BARKLEY FACES FIGHT TO RETAIN RULE OF SENATE

Party Rebels Plan Purge of Leader.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—Special.]—Senate Democrats whose obedience to President Roosevelt is less than 100 per cent may conduct a purge of their own when the 76th congress convenes next Jan. 3. Their victim would be Mr. Roosevelt's "Dear Alben" Barkley of Kentucky, whose election as Democratic leader in July, 1937, was made possible only by pressure from the White House.

Senator Byrnes, mentioned for senate leader.

Senator Barkley was elected majority leader by a one vote margin over Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the finance committee. The vote was 38 to 37.

Four Backers Eliminated.

In the primaries held to date, four Barkley supporters have been eliminated. A fifth, Senator William H. Dieterich [D., Ill.], declined to run for reëlection after both Illinois Democratic organizations refused to have anything to do with him. Only one supporter of Senator Harrison—Royal S. Copeland of New York—has been lost, and that was by death.

If Senator Walter F. George of Georgia and Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland survive the purge, and indications are that they will, "Dear Alben" will have a fight on his hands to retain the majority leadership. Some of the intended victims of the President's purge already are quietly discussing a plan to liquidate Barkley.

Dieterich Swings Election.

In addition to Senator Dieterich the Barkley supporters who have been eliminated are Herbert E. Hitchcock of South Dakota, James P. Pope of Idaho, William G. McAdoo of California, and George L. Berry of Tennessee. Berry was a 100 per center at that time, although he later broke with Roosevelt over patronage.

Dieterich was the man who elected Barkley. The night before the Democratic caucus Senator Harrison had 38 pledged votes, including that of Dieterich. Something happened over night, however. The next morning Dieterich begged to be released from his pledge.

Heretofore the reëlection of the majority leader has been a formality at the beginning of a new congress. The late Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas always went through the formality of putting his leadership to the test.

Precedent Decrees Test.

Thus precedent will decree that Barkley submit his leadership to a test. If he doesn't any member of the caucus can raise the issue by nominating some one else.

Friends of Senator Harrison do not believe he would accept the leadership post if it should be offered to him. If he should decline, the anti-Barkleyites undoubtedly would choose Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, a close friend of Vice President John N. Garner.

Senator Byrnes has been a fairly consistent supporter of the administration for reasons of party loyalty. He went along on the court packing bill and he managed the government reorganization bill after drastically toning it down.

Opponent of Wage Bill.

But he went off the reservation when Mr. Roosevelt gave aid and comfort to the C. I. O. sitdown strikers. He fought the scheme for the political regulation of wages and hours. He supported Senator Harrison for the majority leadership. He joined Harrison's rebellion against the punitive undistributed profits tax, and he made a few lurches in the direction of economy.

More importantly, since Mr. Roosevelt has been probing into the hearts and souls of men, Senator Byrnes does not have what is known as the right outlook. He had no sympathy, for example, with the President's ill-fated attempt to drive his colleague, Senator Ellison D. Smith, from office.

QUINTS' TONSILS AND ADENOIDS TO BE OUT THIS FALL

CALLANDER, Ontario, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The Dionne quintuplets will undergo operations for removal of their tonsils and adenoids this fall, it was reported reliably here today. Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, physician to the quintuplets, has opposed the operations heretofore, but the three week illness of the youngsters from throat infections in August was understood to have caused him to conclude the operations were necessary. Dr. Dafoe himself declined to confirm or deny the reports. "We never know what will happen from day to day," he said.

WINS AIR RACE THRILLER BY SIX SECOND MARGIN

Sets Record; Flies 250 Miles an Hour.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—An unknown speed pilot streaked to fame this afternoon in the Greve trophy air race. The race was a thriller from beginning to end, with one forced landing at the airport and a crackup in a village street.

The winner was Tony Levier of Montebello, Cal., a newcomer to big league air racing. He flew 200 miles around a ten mile course at 250.881 miles an hour and set a record for the trophy event, one of the national air race events.

The race was neck and neck between Levier and Art Chester of Los Angeles, who finished with an average speed of 250.416 miles an hour.

Chester was only six seconds behind Levier. Both surpassed the old record of 247.3 miles an hour, made in 1936 by Michel Detroyat of France.

Harry Crosby of Los Angeles was the pilot who was forced to land at the airport. The exhaust pipe of his plane had burned off and his parachute was beginning to scorch.

Plane Crashes in Street.

Then the overheated engine in the tiny racer flown by George Dory, also of Los Angeles, stopped as Dory was about to round the second pylon, five miles northwest of the airport.

Dory was going 240 miles an hour and was flying fifty feet above the ground. His momentum enabled him to zoom to 250 feet and he lowered his landing gear. Below him lay the homes of Fairview village. The stub winged plane began sinking fast.

Dory banked to avoid hitting a garage, then dropped the racer to the pavement on a dead-end street. The plane bounced once, skimmed along a foot off the ground at 120 miles an hour, and was demolished when it struck a row of trees. Dory was critically injured.

Winner's Ship Damaged.

Meanwhile, back at the airport with the race ended, Levier brought his machine to the ground. He made a good landing but was rolling fast when the wheels slid over one of the runways.

The left landing gear collapsed, the machine went up on its nose, and one blade of the wooden propeller was smashed. The damage was slight, but it will prevent Levier from flying it in the Thompson trophy race tomorrow.

Levier took an immediate lead in today's race, climbing to 250 feet. Chester was below and not a length behind. Levier held the lead for six laps. In the seventh Chester forged ahead, but Levier passed him on the eighth.

Chester Loses 22 Seconds.

Seven times more the streaking racers exchanged the lead. On the fifteenth lap Chester cut wide around a pylon before turning into the straightaway. This put him twenty-two seconds behind Levier when they passed the starting line for the sixteenth time.

Chester began a heroic effort to recover his lost ground. He opened his throttle wide and began to creep up. On the seventeenth lap he was ten seconds behind Levier. On the eighteenth he was five seconds back. On the nineteenth they were even.

Chester went ahead on the back stretch in the last lap. Then, with less than three miles to go, Levier shot ahead and won.

Kansas City Flyer Third.

Third place winner was Joe Jacobson of Kansas City. His time was 218.278 miles an hour. Earl Ortman of San Diego, Cal., was flagged down on his eighteenth lap and was credited with fourth place at 192.503 miles an hour.

Levier, who is 25 years old, announced he will use part of his $12,000 prize money to build his wife a new home. He won $10,000 for placing first and $2,000 for breaking the record. Chester won $5,000, Jacobson $2,000, and Ortman $1,000.

Russell G. Chambers of Los Angeles, whose racer crashed while he was attempting to qualify it last Wednesday, died tonight. An infection resulting from injuries incurred in the crash caused his death.

CardinalHayes Dies in Summer Camp

New York, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Patrick Cardinal Hayes, distinguished prelate and head of the richest Catholic archdiocese in the world, died in his sleep early today. He died at St. Joseph's camp, in the mountains in Sullivan county in southwestern New York.

The cardinal, for forty years a vacationist at the camp conducted by the Dominican sisters, was found dead in bed by his secretary, Monsignor John J. Casey, who had gone to awaken him.

Cardinal Hayes, who usually celebrated mass in his private chapel at the camp at 8:30 every morning, had not appeared by 8 o'clock prompting Mgr. Casey to go to the prelate's room.

Hour of Death Unknown.

Mgr. Casey found his superior in bed and assumed he was sleeping. As he was about to arouse him, he discovered the cardinal was dead. Just when death occurred was not known. It might have been either late Saturday night or early today.

Pope Pius, informed at Castel Gandolfo, expressed "profound sadness." The pontiff ordered messages of condolence sent.

Cardinal Hayes' death reduced the College of Cardinals to sixty-five members, of whom thirty-six are Italians and twenty-nine are of other nationalities.

The cardinal, who would have been 71 years old Nov. 20, had not complained of illness before he retired. He had been in apparent good health recently, although he had not been entirely well since he suffered a breakdown at the Eucharistic congress in Dublin in 1932.

Ill When He Retired.

Mgr. Casey said it was the cardinal's custom to drink a glass of water before retiring. After getting the water, he usually turned out the light in the bathroom and retired. The light was still burning this morning indicating, Mgr. Casey said, that Cardinal Hayes apparently was not feeling well when he went to bed.

The cardinal suffered a breakdown during the Dublin Eucharistic congress. Last year he suffered from a severe attack of acute indigestion. He never was robust in physique.

BOY KING OF EGYPT PERILED AS STUDENT FIRES INTO A CROWD

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Sept. 4.—(AP)—A student fired a revolver and injured two bystanders as King Farouk was emerging from an athletic club today. However, the police denied an attempt had been made to assassinate the king, who will be 19 years old next February.

King Farouk.

The monarch was leaving the swimming pool of the athletic club when the student, Jean Asfar, Egyptian of Syrian origin and the son of a noted Cairo lawyer, leveled a pistol and fired.

An unidentified spectator in the crowd quickly struck the gun from the hand of the student, who is 20 years old. Both fell to the ground. Two persons in the crowd received wounds in the legs.

POKER IN OPEN AND LADIES' DAY PACKS THEM IN

El Monte, Cal., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Mayor Nellie E. Leffler and the city council have brought poker playing here out into the open. It's illegal to play at home but five licensed card rooms operate under a recently adopted ordinance. Every twenty minutes the house collects 10 cents from each player for use of the table and his chair. The house takes nothing out of the pot and there is no other charge. Liquor and minors are barred.

Every Tuesday is "Ladies' day," when the women play free. Other days they pay and about one-third of the players are women.

London Plane Falls; 10 Die; 3 Houses Burn

LONDON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—A Royal Air Force plane, crashing in a densely populated London suburb, today spread a trail of death, fire and wreckage in one of the most extraordinary air tragedies in the history of British aviation.

Ten persons, including the pilot, who was the only occupant of the plane, were killed and nineteen others injured, seven of them gravely.

The plane crashed into a house, fell to the street and killed a boy playing in the road when the pilot, Sergt. S. R. Morris, lost altitude over the suburb of Edmonton. The plane then bounced to the roof of another house and burst into flames.

Residents Trapped.

One woman died in a blaze started by the plane, which badly damaged three houses.

While residents were attempting to free the trapped pilot the plane exploded. The blast killed another boy and injured many of a crowd of witnesses that quickly gathered around the wreck. Six persons died later in hospitals.

Pieces of the plane were blown over the neighborhood. The motor fell loose and struck one house. Part of the landing gear was found in the garden of a house four doors away.

Mother and Two Sons Die.

Mrs. Gladys Saunders and her two sons were among those killed. They were eating lunch when the plane struck their home and turned it into a blazing trap.

Men, women, and children, in the street when the plane's tanks exploded, were sprayed by blazing gasoline and burned like torches as they ran.

When the fire brigades arrived people horribly burned lay about the street, and three houses were on fire. The pilot appeared to have been attempting an emergency landing in nearby Pymmes park.

108 Years Finally Cut in on Granny's Pipe Smoking

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Time has taken its toll of Granny Cornelia Weatherford, who is 108 years old today. She has had to give up her pipe and now she can have only an occasional cigar to smoke.

Gives Up After Wounding Girl and Her Swain

Two blasts from a shotgun early yesterday wrecked the harvest romance of Pearl Reinking Bradley and the man called Ben. Two weeks ago they met in a field of ripe wheat near Starks, in Kane county. Last night physicians in St. Joseph's hospital, Elgin, were striving to save their lives. Both were critically wounded.

Bruno Paszkiewicz, the man called Ben.

Locked in the Kane county jail at Geneva was Clarence Rexford, 40 years old, a hired man who shot them. "I couldn't stand it any longer," he said. "Life wasn't worth living since Pearl fell for that fellow."

Mrs. Bradley, slim and blonde, is 29 years old. She lives at the farm home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Reinking, near Starks. Four years ago she was married to Vernon Bradley, but they separated six months later.

Belle of the Countryside.

About the time of the separation Rexford got a job at the farm. He was formerly a resident of Kentland, Ind., and the authorities learned he has a wife and two children living there.

He soon became enamored of Mrs. Bradley. She was an expert farmer and the belle of the countryside. Her knowledge of farm matters made her male neighbors envious and her fine clothes made the neighboring women envious.

She fashioned all her stylish garments herself. She had learned the dressmaking art as a member of farm clubs, and she put her knowledge to practical use.

Together she and Rexford attended the movies and went for automobile rides. Although Mrs. Bradley said last night there was no pledge of love, Rexford felt that his attentions were not unwelcome. Eventually, he hoped, they would marry.

Meets Him at Harvest Time.

Then came threshing time. Mrs. Bradley went to assist a neighboring farmer. In her various activities there her partner was the man called Ben. That's what everybody called him. Ben is 22, and his full name is Bruno Paszkiewicz. He works on the farm of Chris Nygaard.

After that Ben called often at the Reinking home. It was he who took Mrs. Bradley riding. Rexford protested. He quarreled with the Reinkings and they told him he would have to leave Sept. 15. He threat-

DEMAND ALL BUT GERMANS LEAVE SUDETEN AREA

Hitler Move Dashes Hope for Peace.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 4.—Konrad Henlein's now famous eight Carlsbad points no longer are sufficient to satisfy the Sudeten Germans in their campaign for political independence. Consequently, settlement of this explosive problem tonight appeared to be farther off than ever.

Announcement of new demands on the Prague government was made by Deputy George Wollner at a harvest festival in Henlein's home town of Asch, near the German border. Wollner spoke to an audience estimated at 10,000, which included Henlein. The leader of the Sudeten German [Nazi] party had approved the address before its delivery.

Announces New Platform.

Amid constant applause from his Sudeten German audience, Wollner announced a new platform for negotiations with the government. Regarding the eight Carlsbad points he said there would be no compromise.

"These are not, however, our final demands, but our very first ones," he said.

Without specifying any of these "final demands," Wollner added a preliminary demand to the original eight. It was that "all Czechs who have migrated into the Sudeten German region since 1918 shall leave that area."

"This measure," he said, "is a condition, which, in any case, must be fulfilled before there can be any settlement of the minorities problem."

Wollner repudiated any idea of violence, saying the Sudeten German battle is being fought by legal means. He indirectly accused the Czechs of being belligerent.

"It is incomprehensible that military preparations are going on while there are negotiations in Prague and Lord Runciman [British mediator] is there to give good friendly advice," he said.

Refers to Mock Warfare.

Wollner was referring to extensive military maneuvers now being held in the Sudeten German territory by Czechoslovak troops. Mayors of Sudeten German towns and villages complained to party chiefs because they were compelled to provide billets and food for the soldiers.

Wollner reminded the Czechs that if Reichsfuehrer Hitler does not want war he does want "three and a quarter million Sudeten Germans to have the rights to which they are entitled as part of a great, proud nation."

His conclusion was a menacing one, namely, that behind the Sudeten Germans stand 75,000,000 people.

"We have only one wish to ask of the Almighty—that He may preserve for us Konrad Henlein and Adolf Hitler," the deputy said.

Demand New Foreign Policy.

The final demands to which Wollner referred were forecast in this morning's semi-official Prager Presse, which represents the opinion of the Prague foreign office.

The paper said that Henlein returned from Berchtesgaden, Bavaria, with instructions from Hitler to demand more than the eight Carlsbad points. The new demands, the paper hinted, would be in reference to foreign policy.

That would mean a demand that the Prague government give up its alliances and accords with soviet Russia and France. These pacts are the backbone of the foreign policy of Czechoslovakia. The Sudeten Germans have argued that it was a monstrosity that they should be conscripted into the army which some day might have to fight against their comrades in Germany and with Russians whom the Germans abhor as bolsheviks and despise as Slavs.

Mission Learns Hitler's Stand.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler's views in the critical negotiations between the Czechoslovak government and the Sudeten Germans were believed to have been transmitted to the British mediation mission tonight.

Viscount Runciman, head of the mission, hurried back to Prague from the home of Cardinal Karl Kasper, a few miles outside the city, and tonight all members of the mission were in conference at the Alcron hotel.

President Eduard Benes, who had been resting at Lana castle near the city, also returned although it had been his intention to remain in the country until tomorrow.

What Hitler and the Sudeten party wanted remained an official secret, but all activity indicated negotiations were continuing.

Frank Ashton-Gwatkin, economic expert attached to the Runciman mission, met Henlein, leader of the Sudeten German party, at Asch. The two conversed for two hours.

Afterward a more hopeful spirit seemed to pervade the busy mission headquarters, but the spirit could scarcely be described as optimistic. In the hotel it was being said, "The conversation with Henlein was not unsatisfactory."

FRENCH TROOPS AT BORDER

PARIS, Sept. 4.—(AP)—France today took military measures to guard against any eventuality as German troops continued to move into the new Siegfried chain of fortifications opposite the French Maginot line.

Map shows where 200,000 French troops face German army.

Officials at the war ministry refused to say whether the orders were general. However, many officers and soldiers on leave in Paris from French northeastern garrisons were recalled to their posts by telegraph or messenger.

Officers at Nancy, French army headquarters for the 20th military district, including the frontier zone from the Saar to the Rhine below Strasbourg, said all soldiers and officers on leave were recalled.

Orders also were issued at least in Nancy garrisons that only married soldiers would be permitted to take scheduled leave and then only under the condition they would not leave the town.

Reports from Metz yesterday estimated the number of German troops which moved into the Siegfried chain at between 50,000 and 60,000 men.

A number of units of French soldiers in the Paris region were sent north to reinforce the troops in the concrete and steel Maginot line.

Exact Number Is a Secret.

Most of the 20,000 fighters who participated in the Besançon maneuvers, many of them from garrisons in central France, were sent to the Maginot line area at the end of the war games last Thursday.

The official number of troops in the Maginot line area remained the secret of the war ministry.

Considering the normal garrison of 100,000 men which has been swollen by the Besançon troops, some units from central French garrisons and part of a new class of conscripts beginning their regular service, there appeared to be well over 200,000.

A foreign office spokesman carefully said only that France "simply is waiting and watching" the German movements.

French railroad employés on international trains crossing the French-German frontier through the Saar basin reported on their arrival in France that they were searched when they left Germany. They also said they were watched closely while they traversed the frontier region.

HALIFAX CONFERS WITH ADVISERS ON CZECH CRISIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Viscount Halifax, British foreign secretary, returned to London from Yorkshire today and conferred with diplomatic advisers on the German-Czechoslovak crisis.

The British appear to be disturbed for two reasons. One is that the Germans still believe neither the British nor the French will go to the help of Czechoslovakia if she is attacked. The other is that Ambassador Sir Nevile Henderson's recent talk with Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, has done nothing to shake the Nazi conviction. The ambassador outlined the British government's attitude in the conversation.

Henderson may seek to reopen the matter with Adolf Hitler personally during the Nazi party rally which opens in Nuremberg tomorrow.

Hungary Rebuilds Army

Hungary has announced it will restore universal military training and speed rearmament, thus casting off restrictions made by the world war peace treaty. Hungary's neighbors now hold a considerable portion of her pre-war territory.

KAPSOVAR, Hungary, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Introduction of universal military training and speedy rearmament were among a number of sweeping measures for Hungary announced today by Premier Bela Imredi.

Speaking to 35,000 farmers, miners, and war veterans, Imredi explained that Hungary did not make friendship with somebody against anybody during his recent visits to Rome and Berlin. "Our friendship with Italy and Germany is directed against no one. As proof of this is our better understanding with the little entente states [Czechoslovakia, Rumania, and Jugo-Slavia]."

Imredi insisted, however, that permanent friendship with the little entente depended upon the entente's guarantee of fairer treatment to Hungarian minority groups in these countries. "Especially in Czechoslovakia, where minorities are in the majority, we will demand increased rights for Hungarian groups," he declared.

[The little entente recently scrapped clauses of the world war treaty of Trianon, which bound Hungary not to rearm, and agreed with Hungary to negotiate nonaggression pacts.]

Imredi disclosed plans for a long range program embodying drastic innovations. In addition to conscription the program included:

Organization of a national militia composed of former service men.

Establishment of compulsory labor camps.

Measures to increase births, including confiscation of the property after death of childless couples.

Agricultural reforms, such as division and leasing of big estates to small farmers.

Doctor Tries Plane Ride to Cure Boy's Whooping Cough

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

VIENNA, Sept. 9.—The first attempt to cure a baby boy of whooping cough by taking him up 10,000 feet in an open sports plane was made above Vienna. The mother took the baby to the airport but remained aground. The boy was accompanied by Dr. Urbantschisch, adjutant of the seventeenth group of Nazi flying corps, in a plane piloted by Storm Troop Leader Baier. The doctor said he was well pleased with the results of the trip, which lasted forty minutes.

BULLITT WARNS HITLER AGAINST STARTING A WAR

Says None Can Tell if U.S. Would Enter It.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 4.—American efforts to avert war by diplomatic activity in the European crisis reached a climax today in a speech delivered by William C. Bullitt, United States ambassador to Paris. He spoke at the unveiling of a monument to American world war soldiers at Pointe de Grave, near Bordeaux.

Bullitt emphasized the sentimental solidarity between the United States and France and sounded a new note in American official utterances.

"If war should break out again in Europe no human being could undertake to state or phophecy whether or not the United States would become involved in such a war," he said.

A Warning to Hitler.

The ambassador thus delivered a warning to Reichsfuehrer Hitler only a trifle less precise than that of Sir John Simon, British chancellor of the exchequer.

[Simon on Aug. 27 warned Hitler he must not start a war over Czechoslovakia in which, he said, Great Britain might have to fight.]

On the other hand Bullitt surprised many of his listeners by developing sympathetically one of the favorite Nazi and Fascist propaganda themes—an economic new deal for the "have not" nations.

"The free peoples of the world who still believe in peace must be strong, but they must also be wise," he said. "It is not enough to observe with a sense of superiority the worst mistakes of the new fanaticism. The origins of those fanaticisms lie in part in our own lack of wisdom. If our effort for peace is to achieve anything it must be based on the ability to put ourselves in other men's shoes and recognizing the truth of this saying: 'There but for the grace of God go I.'"

French Grateful to Envoy.

Intelligent French listeners were grateful to Bullitt for having made clear that the United States is not interested in supporting this or that European clique, but in supporting Europe as a whole and above all peace.

Bullitt caused a sensation at a banquet in the Bordeaux city hall Saturday night when he said that France and the United States were "united in war as in peace."

"I have often been touched but not surprised to hear Americans tell me that if France were attacked again they would come again to defend her," Bonnet remarked. "But that is not what we look for from you. Our wish is not that you help us in war, because we don't want war. Our wish is that you help us to safeguard peace."

The foreign minister also recognized the necessity for a more generous and charitable attitude among the democracies toward the totalitarian powers.

Bonnet only skirted the dispute between Czechoslovakia and Germany.

"We hope that, thanks to the strong sense of their international responsibilities which Berlin and Prague must have and thanks to the loyal collaboration of France and Great Britain, the grave menace which now looms over Europe will disappear. France in any case will remain faithful to the pacts and treaties she has concluded."

CHIEF OF STAF QUITS? JUST ISN'T DONE, NAZI REPLY

Rift Over Hitler's Warlike Moves Reported.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—"The idea of a German general retiring from his post could never come into the question," a spokesman for the German propaganda ministry told THE TRIBUNE tonight. The spokesman had been asked about persistent rumors in Berlin that Gen. Ludwig Beck, chief of the German general staf and a number of aids had resigned.

The reports were that the general, who is considered one of the ablest officers in the German army, threatened to resign on learning that the German government was considering measures which the general and his friends feared would complicate the international situation. The generals always held that despite her tremendous rearmament, Germany is not in a position to fight a war on two fronts—in the east and in the west.

Authorities Are Away.

The press expert of the war ministry declared that since it was Sunday it would be "impossible to reach any one in responsible quarters." He felt unable to confirm or deny the reports.

For years Gen. Beck has been considered the "impersonation of the finest qualities of a Prussian officer." He was a moving spirit in the reorganization of the German general staf. Gen. Beck and his officers studiously kept away from politics, devoting themselves entirely to military problems. They occasionally were accused of lacking Nazi enthusiasm, but their friends denied this, pointing to their devotion to their job in helping to revive the old German army.

At times rumors circulated that Gen. von Manstein, a younger officer known for his Nazi enthusiasm, might be moved to the general staf.

Friction Increases.

Gen. Beck has been a frequent visitor at cabinet offices and the chancellery in the past two weeks. This was taken as an indication that the tremendous German maneuvers necessitated an extra number of conferences between members of the war office and the Nazi government. Friction between the conservative groups in the German government and the more radical Nazi groups has increased greatly in the past few days.

The conservatives favor a more moderate course of procedure in the German-Czech conflict, being willing to accept a compromise granting partial autonomy to the Sudeten German [Nazi] population. Since Konrad Henlein's visits to Reichsfuehrer Hitler on Thursday and Friday at Berchtesgaden, the Nazi radicals are clamoring for the Fuehrer to insist on absolute fulfillment of the demands Henlein formulated in his Carlsbad program, meaning complete autonomy for the German groups in Czechoslovakia.

Might Be Called Traitors.

Diplomats in Berlin assumed that even if Gen. Beck and a number of his friends had threatened to resign they would be persuaded to remain in their posts. The Fuehrer repeatedly has declared he considers those who leave positions without his approval as traitors.

Berlin today for the first time since the trial mobilization of reserves began showed a more military air, with many reserves in new uniforms visiting from nearby garrisons.

Maneuver preparations have started on a bigger scale in Austria. Between Vienna and Feldsberg, near the Czech frontier, and in the region of Gmuend about thirty villages have been evacuated and are occupied by soldiers. The movement started when authorities demanded removal of all Jews from the region. Then the farmers and their live stock were moved. It is expected they will be resettled in other parts of pan-Germany.

Love Shooting

ened Ben, who told Mrs. Bradley.

"Every man for himself," she said.

It was after midnight Saturday when the couple returned from a ride. Rexford met them, spoke, and went upstairs to his room. A little later he walked down, carrying a shotgun, and went outside the house. The girl's mother, who had heard him moving about, saw the gun and called to her daughter. It was a futile warning.

At the front door Rexford commanded Ben to leave. The younger man moved toward him. He fired. The charge struck Ben in the chest. Mrs. Bradley ran toward the gunman. Again the gun cracked, and she was struck in the chest.

Assailant Gives Self Up.

Rexford dropped the gun. Mrs. Bradley helped the wounded suitor to her car and they drove to Starks, a mile and a half away. There state policemen picked them up and took them to the hospital.

Rexford followed them. He surrendered to Deputy Sherif Harry Holze at Starks.

"I was going to kill myself after I shot them," he said, "but I changed my mind."

NAZIDOM CHEERS HITLER TODAY AT HUGE CONVENTION

Fuehrer to Make Grand Entry Into Nuremberg.

NUREMBERG, Germany, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler will make a grand entry into Nuremberg tomorrow for the Nazi party congress with Czechoslovakia the issue in the foreground and Austria in the background.

Arrow points to scene of Nazi rally.

He will lead the party, which he founded and used as a springboard to world power, through eight days of speech and policy making.

His annual keynoting proclamation will be read Tuesday, reviewing Nazi achievements and pointing the way to the future. Hitler will make at least half a dozen speeches during the congress.

500,000 Nazis to Attend.

The convention, always an event of superlative figures, will eclipse its past records because of the addition of participants from Austria, which was annexed March 13.

Some 500,000 Nazis will be there officially, in addition to whom there will be hundreds of thousands of visitors.

Advance information indicated much would be heard during the congress of the matter uppermost in the minds of Nazis now—the alleged mistreatment by Czechoslovakia of the Sudeten German minority over which Hitler has proclaimed himself "protector."

Second only to this will be the inclusion of Austria into greater Germany.

Great Army Displays.

There will be great army displays here, but these will not interfere with the regular army maneuvers now proceeding simultaneously with navy maneuvers.

Hundreds of thousands of Nazis will welcome Hitler when he arrives about 1 p. m. [7 a. m. Chicago time] tomorrow to preside at the sixth party convention since his assumption of power.

Before the congress closes Sept. 12 with a speech by the Fuehrer there will be a crowded program of speeches and displays.

Rudolf Hess, Hitler's deputy in party matters; Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda; Alfred Rosenberg, ideological leader of the party; Robert Ley, head of the German Labor Front; Otto Dietrich, leader of the Nazi press; Baldur von Schirach, youth leader, and Walther Darre, minister of agriculture, each will be heard in a speech on the matters under his care.

Special Badge Designed.

The badge for the congress symbolizes the creation of greater Germany. A Germanic hero is depicted leading his brother from the east, the Austrian, forward and upward. The Austrian is shown carrying the remnants of a broken chain. The goal of the two wanderers, greater Germany, is symbolized by an iron block bearing the swastika.

PRAYERS SAID FOR GERMAN BISHOP OUSTED BY NAZIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 4. — Congregations in all Roman Catholic churches today offered special prayers for Bishop Ludwig Sproll of Rottenburg, who recently was expelled from his diocese. A declaration was read in which the close link between the bishops and their dioceses was stressed. It added that when Bishop Sproll declined to leave his diocese he was removed forcibly by police.

A. K. STERN WEDS MARTHA DODD; IT'S A SURPRISE

Second Marriage for Both Former Chicagoans.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Miss Martha Dodd, daughter of William E. Dodd, former American ambassador to Germany, was married today to Alfred K. Stern, a housing expert and former son-in-law of the late Julius Rosenwald, philanthropist.

The marriage of Miss Dodd and Stern, who are former Chicagoans, came as a surprise to many of their friends. It was the second marriage for each.

Ceremony in Virginia.

The ceremony was performed in the Round Hill home of Mr. Dodd, near Leesburg, Va. The Rev. Henry B. Cole of the Baptist church at Purcellsville, Va., officiated. W. E. Dodd Jr., Miss Dodd's brother, was best man. After the ceremony the couple left by plane for New York. They plan a European honeymoon.

Miss Dodd's first husband was George Bassett Roberts, a New York banker, to whom she was secretly married in Chicago in March, 1932. In August, 1934, while she was in Germany with her parents, he obtained a Reno divorce on the charge of desertion.

Divorced Last Year.

Stern was formerly the husband of Miss Marion Rosenwald, daughter of Mr. Rosenwald. She obtained a divorce from him in Waukegan, Ill., on Sept. 1, 1937. She charged desertion. She was given custody of their children, Alfred R. and Adele R.

Stern was educated at Harvard. He resigned as chairman of the Illinois State Housing board last March.

CHICAGO BASKS IN HOLIDAY SMILE OF WEATHER MAN

Chicagoans will end their three day Labor day holiday today with the knowledge it was one of the finest in years. The weather was ideal yesterday and Saturday, with a high temperature yesterday of 89 degrees. Today is likely to be cloudy and cooler.

While hundreds of thousands of Chicagoans left the city, perhaps as many visitors came to Chicago. There was plenty of holiday fun for those in town. Parks and beaches were crowded. The Chicago Zoölogical park at Brookfield had its highest attendance of the year—49,304.

Organized labor will honor the day today with special meetings and talks. No major parade is scheduled, but the Young Republicans, headed by Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for senator, will parade to Riverview park.

FRANCO WRESTS EBRO RIVER HILLS FROM LOYALISTS

Wins Town of Corbera in Spanish Drive.

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier], Sept. 4.—(AP)—Spanish rebels reported today they had driven government forces from many miles of fortifications on the Ebro river front in a general advance that opened a new rebel offensive in Catalonia.

Arrow indicates town captured by rebels.

Government advices acknowledged the loss of three hills in the Gandesa sector, but declared the rebel assaults were turned back at most points.

The powerful rebel drive began yesterday. Generalissimo Francisco Franco's infantry followed tanks in repeated charges against the government's strong lines west of the Ebro river after punishing aerial and artillery barrages.

Push Beyond Corbera.

In the Gandesa sector, rebels said, their infantry captured and pushed beyond Corbera, about three miles northeast of Gandesa, on a highway leading through the mountains to the Ebro.

Corbera, a key point in the government line, was the first important village captured by the rebels in the Ebro valley since the government flung its lines around Gandesa in July.

Rebel dispatches said government forces were scattered on both sides of Corbera in the early morning and that the last defenders were driven from the village's shelltorn streets by noon. An hour later, they said, the rebel red and gold banner was flying from the ruins of Corbera's church.

Heavy Losses in Two Months.

Franco's military headquarters estimated government losses at 25,000 since last July 25, when the government army pushed across the Ebro river and dug a salient deep into the rebels' lines in Catalonia.

Government dispatches reported capture of several hills in Estremadura, the southwestern front, and two advances against rebel siege lines around Madrid.

They said government forces drove back the rebel line on the road from Las Rozas, northwest of Madrid toward Escorial, and advanced on the outskirts of the city by exploding a huge mine under rebel positions.

Rebels also said they shot down ten government planes on the southwestern front and another near Tremp in northern Catalonia. A communique from Burgos said fifty government planes were shot down in July and sixty-nine in August.

SEEK GANG SHOOTING LINKS IN STUDY OF OLD TIME BAD MAN'S PAST

Warren avenue police last night were searching into the shady past of Walter McComb, old time bad man, to learn why he was shot Saturday night in front of 1705 Madison street. He is in the Bridewell hospital in serious condition.

McComb himself had no clues to offer. To Lieut. John Burns and other questioners his only statement was that a stranger stepped up to him and fired without warning.

Police are investigating two phases of McComb's past. One is his known employment in west side gambling houses. In recent months nine men have been slain in Chicago, most of them because of gambling feuds. The other phase grows out of the $2,000,000 Rondout mail robbery of 1924. McComb was tried and acquitted in that crime. Eight other men were convicted. They have since been freed after having served prison terms. At the time of the trials there was some underworld gossip that McComb had been a police informer.

WPA PETS FIND AN EASY PATH TO THE BEST JOBS

Favor with Foreman Pays Dividends in Cash.

This is the fourth article in a series on the Works Progress administration. The articles have been prepared by three Tribune reporters after weeks of investigation.

BY CLIFFORD BLACKBURN.

It takes a long time to become a union craftsman. First, you must prove your fitness to serve as an apprentice. Then you must work several years at low pay, learning the trade. To obtain your union card you must attain a degree of excellence that will make you eligible for the high pay that union men command.

When you are a full fledged member you have a feeling of security. You know the union protects your trade against men of no training who try to invade the field. But this, of course, is in private industry.

As handled by the federal Works Progress administration the routine is vastly different. Established practices and standards mean little here.

How to Get Ahead.

Suppose you are a likely young man working on a WPA project as a laborer for $55 a month. You soon see that those who find favor with the foremen are the ones who get ahead. So you find favor with the foreman.

As the project goes along it develops that there is some electrical work involved. You tell the foreman that you used to be mighty handy at that sort of thing. No, you never did join the union, but you know as much about it as do many who carry cards. The foreman likes you, so he has you reclassified as an electrician—as he can do. Your pay is raised to $85 a month. You draw the union scale of an electrician.

This puts your hourly earnings so high that you work only a week or so each month.

An Example Is Cited.

Harold Mirabella is this kind of craftsman. Mirabella is a young married man who has been identified in the past with the Democratic organization in Maywood. He recently has blossomed out as a WPA electrician, assigned to the forest preserve warehouse at First avenue and Roosevelt road in Proviso township. He draws $85 a month, working it out at the union scale. He says he has never held a union card and has had little training as an electrician. Officials of the International Brotherhood of Electrical workers estimate that there are hundreds of Mirabelles in this area alone.

And there is another way in which the WPA helps undermine union labor. Many former union men have stopped paying dues since going to work for the WPA. They draw higher pay because of their former union affiliation, but they no longer help support their local.

Charles W. Goodwin, 919 Adams street, Maywood, is representative of this group. His last card was issued by the I. B. E., local 134, in 1934. Yet he draws $85 a month as an electrician, working about 50 hours in each two week period.

The WPA has become a fertile field for the agents of unrecognized and outlaw unions. Men entirely lacking in qualifications can join so-called unions for ridiculously low fees, then demand and get union pay from the WPA. One such organization charges an initiation fee of 25 cents and monthly dues of 10 cents.

C. I. O. Agents Active.

C. I. O. agents are the most active around WPA projects. Also popular is the communist led Illinois Workers' alliance, which is closely allied with the C. I. O. As the result of these and similar activities, common laborers have engaged in bricklaying, stone masonry, and other building crafts in Chicago and Cook county.

In several instances this has been stopped when the Chicago Federation of Labor threatened to order regular union men off the job. But in the country towns, where unions are less vigilant and less powerful, their men have been crowded out, leaders here believe.

The Chicago Federation of Labor is powerless to help unemployed union men get on WPA, according to Joseph Keenan, its secretary. When union men who have gotten on have a chance to do skilled labor they are given written permission to do so, even though they may be in arrears in their dues, he said. But he has been rebuffed when he recommended deserving members of the union who are unemployed.

Corrections Are Sought.

"Lots of things should be corrected in the WPA," Keenan continued. "I am opposed to WPA supervisors putting $55 a month men on building construction jobs. I am told this has been done. This is breaking down the living standards of the American Federation of Labor and I am opposed to it.

"I believe the Washington heads of the WPA are honest in their desire to feed people and I think they are fair toward labor. The great evil is in allowing undersupervisors in the field to take short cuts and use untrained $55 a month men on projects that call for skilled labor. This practice is widespread."

Anthony Dandrea is even more emphatic and specific. Dandrea is chairman of the Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers' union district council, No. 5950.

"The law provides that the WPA shall be used only on public works,' he declared. "Here in Chicago are numerous examples that it is being used on private projects, notably the wrecking of condemned buildings."

Pay Raised After Strike.

Early in the summer all union men employed on WPA projects in Cook county, outside of Chicago, went on strike, demanding that the scale be paid all skilled union workers. After two weeks Washington ordered that the union scale of $1.02½ to $1.42½ an hour be put into effect.

"But this relieved the situation only in Cook county," Dandrea commented. "Downstate and in neighboring states common laborers are doing specialized work that should be attempted only by skilled men."

In at least one branch of skilled labor, however, the WPA has caused a shortage, according to B. Kappel, north side building contractor.

"I am badly in need of brick laborers [$1.02½ cents an hour] and plaster laborers [$1.10 cents an hour]," he said. "You can't find them on the street either. They are working for the WPA. They have steady jobs that pay them $55 a month for three or four days' work a week."

The case of Harry Schroeder verifies this observation. Schroeder formerly was chief of police of Broadview, then was r filling station operator. When the depression began pinching him he went back to his old calling of bricklaying—on the WPA. He draws $85 a month, paid according to the union scale. On his days of leisure he does private carpentry and is thoroughly content.

"I hope Roosevelt keeps running for office and that the WPA goes on forever," he says.

Thus does WPA undermine the higher standards of living that have been worked out through the years for the American laboring man. Skilled craftsmen sink to the lower levels of existence, lulled by the temporary and scanty security offered by WPA.

Patrick J. Sullivan, president of the Chicago Building Trades council, has observed this. "There is no telling how many of our men are on WPA," he says. "Most of them are ashamed of it and will not tell us."

JERUSALEM, Sept. 4.—Fourteen Arabs were killed and two captured today by troops in a pitched battle at Megiddo which is the site of ancient Armageddon uncovered recently by a University of Chicago archeological expedition. The troops, who suffered no casualties, were assisted by three royal air force planes. They captured a quantity of arms and ammunition. Among the dead Arabs was Sheikh Taha who led a group in the Haifa district last year.

American Writer Wounded by Jap Air Raid in China

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Advices from the Yangtze valley front today said K. J. Eskelund, war correspondent who graduated from the University of Missouri school of journalism, received a slight face wound yesterday in a Japanese air raid on Teian. Eskelund, who is covering the war for the China Press, had taken refuge in a temple when the raiders flew over.

Burglar Gets Lot of Bills, but They're Worth 10c

The burglar who stole a handful of bills from the home of Charles Lier, 1035 North Menard avenue, didn't get so much. The bills, each with a high face value, were printed in Germany during its great inflation period after the war. Their hard cash value is 10 cents. The burglar got some substantial loot, however—five rings, a watch, and $7.

10,000 CHINESE SLAIN IN A WEEK, JAPANESE CLAIM

SHANGHAI, Sept. 5.—[Monday.]—(AP)—Japanese leaders estimated today that 10,000 Chinese had been killed in the Yangtze valley during a week of the deadliest fighting since the fall of Shanghai almost ten months ago.

The severest fighting was along the shore of Lake Poyang where twenty Chinese divisions were reported smashed and driven out. Aviation and artillery played an important part in the drive.

Ten Chinese divisions were reported left in the area defending hills in a narrow strip between the Yangtze river and Red Lake. To the south the Japanese launched another attack on Matowchen. That town controls a fortified Yangtze river bottle neck near Kiukiang.

At Kwangtsi, on the north bank of the Yangtze 105 miles southeast of Hankow, the Japanese opened an attack in an attempt to coördinate a drive against a Chinese constructed boom across the river between Matowchen and Wusueh.

PLAN PROGRAM OF LEGISLATION FOR CARRIERS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Representatives of about fifty leading transportation, shipping, and financial organizations will participate in a transportation conference in Washington Sept. 14 and 15, the United States Chamber of Commerce announced today. The conference, said George H. Davis, president of the chamber, will take up the numerous proposals for transportation legislation that have been put forward in recent months. The main purpose is to select from all of these recommendations a practical program which can reasonably be expected to be enacted into law at the next session of congress and to work out a plan of coördinated effort for its adoption.

KIDNAPED WIFE RETURNS HOME; PAY NO RANSOM

Suffering from Hunger; Fear Pneumonia.

Wheatland, Cal., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. William R. Meeks, who was kidnaped from her home near here Thursday night, was returned this morning. She was suffering from shock and hunger, distraught and ill. Her physician, Dr. B. P. Hoffman, said he feared that she might develop pneumonia. No ransom was paid.

Mrs. Meeks, 55 years old, was found walking on a highway thirteen miles south of her fruit ranch home by Albert Foster, a trucking contractor, shortly after daybreak. She asked for directions to Sheridan, near the Meeks home.

Soon after Mrs. Meeks arrived home federal bureau of investigation agents renewed their search for the kidnapers. They reëntered the case after withdrawing Friday to enable the family to negotiate with the kidnapers.

State Officers Find Hideout.

State highway patrol officers late today found a barren hillside, seven miles northeast of Sheridan, on which there were marks of blankets, cigaret stubs, and other evidences of the hideout. Mrs. Meeks had told officers that she had been forced to lie on a quilt for more than two days in the brush, several miles from a ranch, three miles from Wheatland.

Mrs. Meeks told E. R. Cato, chief of the state highway police, that one of the kidnapers left the hideout at noon yesterday and did not return. Toward evening, she said, the other told her he was leaving for a short time and that if she attempted to escape he would kill her.

"If you stay here until the moon comes up," the kidnaper said, "we'll take you home."

Mrs. Meeks said she remained until daybreak and then found courage to walk away from the brush.

Force Way Into Meeks' Home.

The kidnapers forced their way into the Meeks home last Thursday night and bound Mrs. Meeks and her husband. They placed Mrs. Meeks in the Meeks' automobile and drove away after telling her husband he would have to pay $15,000 ransom. Meeks did not receive a ransom or extortion note, according to Loyd Hewitt, Yuba county state's attorney.

When the kidnapers left the Meeks home they drove to the gates of a ranch and took Mrs. Meeks out of the car. She was blindfolded and her hands tied behind her back. She was forced to walk the several miles to the hideout.

One of the kidnapers then drove the Meeks automobile to Marysville, twelve miles north of Wheatland, and abandoned it. Mrs. Meeks' pocketbook and glasses were found in the car four hours after her husband escaped from his bonds and notified Sherif Bert Ullrey.

Bear Hunter

LESTER ESSIG JR.

Lester Clay Essig Jr., 14 years old, 3200 Sheridan road, has been shooting everything from rabbits to moose with a rifle since he was 5, but his neatest coup to date is the killing of a 1,700 pound polar bear with a bow and arrow.

Lester, a freshman at Lane Technical High school, yesterday brought back the polar bear's pelt and color movies from the far north to prove it. He shot the bear with a five foot bow with a 70 pound pull while on a hunting trip with his father at North and South Twin Islands in James Bay.

It took three arrows at from 30 to 60 feet from the deck of a schooner to stop the bear, which was swimming.

Colored Watchman Shot in an Office by Burglars

Walter Powells, 48 years old, colored watchman at the Canfield Beverage company offices, 6797 South Chicago avenue, was shot four times early today when he came upon two burglars in the place. They escaped. Powells, who lives at 436 East 42d place, is in a serious condition in the County hospital.

DEMOCRAT SAYS PARTY MAY LOSE 25 HOUSE SEATS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Representative Patrick Drewry of Virginia, chairman of the Democratic national congressional committee, said today that a nation-wide survey indicated the party's net loss of house seats in the fall elections would not exceed twenty-five.

"We believe," he added, "that it will be the smallest net loss in the history of midterm elections in the second administration of any President of any party."

The Virginian was replying to Republican predictions of house gains ranging from forty to seventy seats.

Britain Supports Sultan Against Romantic Brother

LONDON, Sept. 4.—[Special.]—British government officials are understood to be supporting the sultan of Trengganu, in the unfederated Malay states, in his opposition to marriage of the sultan's brother, Prince Mahmud. The prince, who is 20 years old, has vowed to give up his title and allowance to marry Miss Joyce Blencowe, daughter of an Oxford tailor. He fell in love with her while a student at Oxford university. Ordered to return home, he deserted the ship and flew back to England and Miss Blencowe.

PRESIDENT RIDES INTO MARYLAND ON PURGE ERRAND

Voices War Fears, Hushes Politics on Sabbath.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Into a Maryland inclined to be resentful, President Roosevelt rode today, bent upon his attempted purge of Senator Millard E. Tydings from the Democratic party.

On this Sabbath day the President refrained from political comment, refusing even to mention by name Tydings' opponent, David J. Lewis. Before a crowd of not more than 500 at Morgantown, Md., Mr. Roosevelt chose a familiar theme—the danger that this country may be involved in war.

Pledges Bridge; Talks of War.

The President looked at the site of a proposed bridge across the Potomac between Maryland and Dahlgren, Va., pledged himself to see that the bridge would be built and then remarked:

"I suppose there is no nation in the world whose people are more peace-loving than the people of the United States. I suppose there is no nation in the world more sincerely desirous of keeping out of war.

"At the same time, you and I know what world conditions are, and we have to think sometimes of national defense against some emergency that may come through no fault of our own."

The President said that the proposed bridge would be useful in national defense.

The smallness of the crowd supported reports that Marylanders are boycotting the President's purge tour.

May Call for New Party Lines.

Tomorrow at Denton, Md., the President will make a speech which may be one of the most important of his career. In it he may advocate a new political party lineup in the United States, urging so-called liberals in both parties to align themselves against those whom Mr. Roosevelt has labeled reactionaries.

The President was greeted respectfully today, but the emphasis was upon his position as chief executive of the nation. Obviously he was not welcome in the rôle of purger.

"Welcome, Mr. Roosevelt, as President," read one significant banner. The "as" was underlined.

The President was not long on Maryland soil today. He boarded his yacht, the Potomac, after the Morgantown talk. Tomorrow morning he will land at Crisfield, Md., and will motor up the eastern shore of the state, making numerous stops and climaxing the day with the big speech at Denton.

Lewis On His Coat Tails.

Representative Lewis, Senator Tydings' opponent, was an inseparable companion of the President today and will remain at Mr. Roosevelt's elbow tomorrow. Other members of the party included Democratic National Committee Chairman James A. Farley, who approves the attempt to purge Tydings; Gov. Harry W. Nice, Republican governor of Maryland; Representative T. Alan Goldsborough [D., Md.], and Senator F. Ryan Duffy, Wisconsin Democrat.

Senator Duffy's presence strengthened the belief that Mr. Roosevelt will deal tomorrow with the conservative vs. liberal theme. Duffy was elected with the help of the radical La Follettes. This year, however, he is being opposed by the La Follettes' Progressive party.

POP TELLS ALL, BUT COUNTS ON GETTING VOTES

Denver, Colo., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Irvin H. [Call Me Pop] Hanes wants to be state auditor because the $4,000 yearly salary is considerably more than he ever received before.

Seeking the Democratic nomination, Haynes is distributing literature which states he has "not been urged by friends" to enter the race, is "not a pillar in the church" and is not "universally respected."

"His knowledge of the problems of the farmer and labor is virtually a total loss," the literature says.

"He is not the outstanding candidate for this office," the description sets forth, "as there are several other good fellows running and you will make no mistake in voting for them.

"As to economics, vital issues, what caused the depression, and panaceas therefor, he is woefully ignorant—but what of it—so are you.

"His record. The less said about that, the better."

Hanes formerly published a weekly newspaper in Colorado and was once employed by the national park service.

Harold F. McCormick and his bride returned to Chicago yesterday from Los Angeles on the Santa Fe Super Chief. They were married May 31 in the Pasadena home of Mr. McCormick's sister, Miss Mary V. McCormick.

Two Ex-Felons Confess Robbing Postal Station

Salvatore del Genio, an ex-convict, and Carl Fiorito were held by the Austin police yesterday after they confessed, police said, to the recent robbery of a postal substation at Ridgeway and Chicago avenues. Arrested Friday, they admitted taking $80 and stamps and money order blanks. Fiorito once served a term in the Bridewell for larceny. Del Genio served a term in Joliet penitentiary for robbery.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Scott W. Lucas, Democratic nominee for United States senator, denied that in a speech at St. Charles Saturday he questioned the war record of his Republican opponent, Richard J. Lyons, as reported in THE TRIBUNE yesterday.

SENATOR GEORGE AHEAD IN TEST VOTE IN GEORGIA

Roosevelt's Candidate 3d in Field of Four.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Senator Walter F. George, who is marked for the Roosevelt purge in the Sept. 14 Georgia primary, today ranks first in popularity among voters on the basis of returns in test polls.

Former Gov. Eugene Talmadge is second in the polling tests. United States District Attorney Lawrence S. Camp, whom Roosevelt is backing, is third. William G. McRae, a Townsend pension plan advocate, is fourth.

The latest of a series of polls taken by the National Order of 21, a nonpartisan political fraternal organization, gave Senator George 104 counties with 290 vote units; Talmadge fifty-five counties with 120 vote units; Camp, none, and McRae, none.

Each County Sampled.

The poll was taken by sending ten representatives into each county to sample sentiment. Under Georgia's peculiar county unit system, each county has two vote units for each representative in the legislature. Candidates receiving the most popular votes in each county get that county's vote units. There are 410 vote units. A candidate is required to receive 206 for nomination without a runoff.

The Atlanta Constitution disclosed that in its poll 85 per cent expressed opposition to Roosevelt's request for the defeat of George and the election of Camp.

Although Camp advised his supporters not to take part in the test polls, the Constitution asserted that straw ballots were received from virtually every county.

George Registers Gain.

The Milledgeville Daily Times conducted a poll in Baldwin county and found that George gained in the last few days. This poll was considered indicative of the sentiment in rural sections.

In a man-on-the-street poll in Atlanta, 65 per cent were for George, 20 per cent for Talmadge, and 15 per cent for Camp.

While the governorship race virtually was shoved into the background by the senatorial campaign, test polls indicated that Gov. E. D. Rivers, a Roosevelt supporter, is behind in his race for reëlection.

One poll gave Rivers seventy-seven counties with 202 vote units. Hugh Howell, former state Democratic committee chairman during the gubernatorial regimé of Talmadge, received eighty counties with 204 vote units. John J. Mangham received two counties with four vote units. The Milledgeville Times gave Howell 353 popular votes; Rivers, 250; Mangham, 28, and Robert F. Wood, 20.

Smith Victory Hailed.

The victory of Senator Ellison D. [Cotton Ed] Smith in South Carolina over Gov. Olin D. Johnston provided fuel for speculation. Roosevelt backed Johnston.

It was conceded that the South Carolina election enhanced the prestige of Senator George.

Camp's followers, however, said that if Camp polls as much as 40 per cent of the votes—as compared with Gov. Johnston's 45 per cent in South Carolina—his nomination virtually will be assured.

They are counting on some anti-Roosevelt votes being split between George and Talmadge. On the other hand, George and Talmadge backers asserted that if Camp obtains 40 per cent of the popular votes it would be necessary for the ballots to be fortunately distributed to fit requirements of the county unit system.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE OPENS WAR ON 'ISMS' IN MINNESOTA RACE

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—War has been declared on the isms that have beset Minnesota during the last few years in the campaign of Harold E. Stassen, Republican nominee for governor. He made this war on radicalism the chief point in his keynote address before more than 1,000 delegates who met in state convention at the Minneapolis armory last week.

"There must be a change in the state capitol," says the nominee, a lawyer, who is 32 years old. "One condition that I will make will be that no one supporting communism or fascism or the silver shirts will be permitted to remain in public service."

With this statement he referred to charges made frequently in the last few months that the administration of Farmer-Labor Governor Elmer A. Benson has been controled by communists.

The Republican nominee also came out flatly against a sales tax for Minnesota.

"What we need in Minnesota," he said, "is less taxes. If I am governor we will spend less."

YOUNG T. R. WINS CROWD'S CHEERS AT ST. CHARLES

Enthusiasm Forecasts Big G. O. P. Vote.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, hailed as "Young Teddy" in spite of his graying temples, was credited yesterday with contributing materially to the success of Republican day at the fall festival of the city of St. Charles.

The crowd, about three times the size of the attendance on Democratic day twenty-four hours earlier, cheered him repeatedly as he solemnly attacked the present Roosevelt régime. It appeared particularly delighted when he cited from his personal experience to prove that Franklin Delano Roosevelt has systematically wrecked the federal civil service.

Larger G. O. P. Vote Forecast.

Col. Roosevelt was followed by Richard J. Lyons, nominee for United States senator, and other candidates on the Republican state ticket. They and the campaign managers said that the size of the turnout—between 20,000 and 25,000—and the spirit of the crowd forecast the vote in northern Illinois as somewhere around its old time high.

Col. Roosevelt approached the subject of civil service with a discussion of the tremendous increase in the last six years of the army of Washington pay rollers.

"Because of the schemes of his imported professors," he continued, "because of the demands of the plug-ugly politicians on whom he depends, President Roosevelt has saddled us, the American people, with this swarm of office-holding parasites.

Merit System Damaged.

"Furthermore, he has broken the morale of the merit system in government employment by consistently and steadily pushing into positions those on whom he could count for political support and throwing out those who opposed his policies.

"The pattern on which he works is thoroughly familiar to me for it is exactly what he did with the civilion personnel in the navy when he was assistant secretary of that department. I know whereof I speak for I followed him in that office and I saw his handiwork.

"He is nothing if not adroit. This has been demonstrated in one of his latest moves in civil service. First of all, he appointed outside of civil service great groups of political henchmen. Then, calling on high heaven to witness what an advocate of the merit system he was, he placed all those men under civil service so they could not be removed."

Col. Roosevelt stressed particularly President Roosevelt's failure to solve the unemployment problem, a fact he described as tragedy to 12 million people. He laid the responsibility for their ghastly experience directly at the President's door.

Blames President Directly.

"The reason these 12 million are idle," he said, "is because the half-baked policies of the New Deal theorists have definitly prevented the return of prosperity on a sound basis.

"The President selected men to plan for recovery who were absolutely and totally incapable, who had never had any practical experience with the problems with which they dealt. The result has been sorrow, tragedy, and disaster. And for all this sorrow and disaster the President is directly responsible."

CITY WILL OPEN NEW RIVER LOCK ON WEDNESDAY

Ross A. Woodhull.

The new $2,500,000 control works and navigation lock at the entrance to the Chicago river will be officially opened Wednesday. This improvement, designed partially to regulate the flow of lake water into the river, has been under construction since 1935. It was financed with the aid of a Public Works administration grant and loan. The lock is 600 feet long, 80 feet wide and 24 feet deep.

An order of the Supreme court resulted in the building of the control works. Chicago's sanitary district formerly took 10,000 cubic feet of water per second from the lake. Several states sued to cut this, alleging that the drainage was lowering the lake levels. The Supreme court held 1,500 feet per second was the permissible maximum. The city was given until the end of 1938 to complete the reduction.

Present at the ceremonies Wednesday will be Mayor Kelly, Ross A. Woodhull, president of the sanitary district; Joshua D'Esposito, resident engineer for the PWA, and Capt. S. N. Karrick, army engineer. The party will leave the naval armory at the foot of Randolph street on the cruiser Wilmette at 9:45 a. m.

FATHER LEADS POLICE TO HIS SON, A ROBBER

James Shanahan of 3917 West 14th street made a deduction Friday night when he discovered that his son Al, 15 years old, and his .32 caliber pistol were both missing. He called the Fillmore street police.

"My son has been keeping bad company for a few weeks," he said. "Now he's out with a pistol. I hope you can get him before he pulls any stickups. He's a tall boy, blond, and he's wearing a gray cap and a brown lether jacket."

The police didn't find Al that night. But they had two reports of persons held up by two young robbers. One had a gray cap and a brown jacket. Early Saturday morning they went to the Shanahan home and seized Al. Yesterday he confessed that with a companion he committed four robberies Friday night—and got nothing.

BAR INDIANA WPA FROM SOLICITING ELECTION FUND

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 4.—(AP)—In a sharply worded warning, John K. Jennings, Indiana Works Progress administration head who ordered WPA employés dismissed for "excessive political activity" prior to the May primaries, tonight, emphasized campaign fund solicitation among works relief employés would "positively not be tolerated."

Jennings called attention to the federal corrupt practices act, declared its provisions regarding solicitation are applicable to the 99,172 relief agency employés.

His understanding of the law, Jennings said, "Is that no federal employé may solicit funds from any other federal employé," adding, "no one, under this statute, may solicit funds from any federal employé while on federal property or projects."

DENIES STRIKING BOY WITH AUTO, THEN ENDS LIFE

Edward Cooper, 44 years old, was found dead last evening in the kitchen of his home at 6471 Leoti avenue. Gas was flowing from the burners of a stove and a note beside the body indicated that Cooper had taken his own life.

Addressed to his wife it said: "Think of me once in a while. I am doing what I think best. I have been a failure for the past few years and I hope this doesn't bring hardship on you. I am positive that I did not hit that boy. As God is my judge, I didn't."

Neighbors told the police that Cooper told them he was accused of striking and injuring a boy with his automobile some time ago, but apparently cleared himself.

CHARGES VITAL TVA QUESTIONS GO UNANSWERED

Rep. Wolverton Staying On to Scan Reports.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Charges that the TVA hearings in Knoxville just ended failed to touch many vital questions were made tonight by Representative Charles A. Wolverton [R., N. J.]. Wolverton, as a minority member of the congressional committee, has been leading cross-examiner during the seven weeks of the hearings. He is remaining to examine exhibits and reports piled up in the record.

His particular charge is that TVA policies and administration, one of the subjects laid down by congress for inquiry, have not been given sufficient attention here at the headquarters of TVA.

Fails to Develop Facts.

"The investigation has failed to touch the more important and vital questions," Wolverton said. "Most of the information in the record could have been obtained by reading reports. The only new material presented is the result of persistent questioning conducted by the minority.

"If it had not been for the minority the record would show nothing more than a series of carefully prepared speeches, strikingly similar in language and texture, indicating a common source, designed for the purpose of placing before the committee a favorable picture of the policies and administration by the key men in the TVA organization."

Wolverton holds the committee has acted wisely in delaying certain basic items of inquiry until the staf of committee investigators has had time for research.

Cost Question Unanswered.

Chief of these are hydro-power and the TVA yardstick of electric rates set up in September, 1933, which Arthur E. Morgan, deposed chairman, says is a false stick. How much TVA kilowatts cost taxpayers is the chief question.

One important question shelved with other power matters is that of the bargain rate contracts made with the Aluminum Company of America and other chemical-metallurgical companies for TVA current.

Thomas A. Panter, committee engineer, and a staf of six or seven are studying the power questions.

The phosphate land deal in which TVA last year bought 550 acres of phosphate land at a profit of $527,000 to the seller is another item shelved. A report by the government agents was made on this purchase and it has been turned over to the department of justice to check. The committee has recessed subject to call of the chair.

TAXICAB DRIVER'S SLAYING LAID TO TAVERN ROBBER

Police of Gary and Frankfort, Ind., investigating the murder of John Colla, Gary taxicab driver, were working yesterday on the theory that he was slain by the man who held up a Gary saloon last Wednesday morning. Colla's nude body was found Saturday afternoon in a cornfield near Frankfort. Two bullets had been fired into the back of his head.

The holdup occurred at the Irish inn. John Satmary, bartender, was shot in the shoulder by the robber. A few hours later Colla telephoned his employer that he had driven a man and women to Whiting and that they wanted him to drive to Lafayette, Ill. The cab, partly burned, was found the next afternoon near the village of Patton, Ind. It was believed that the robber and his woman companion had hired Colla to drive them out of Gary.

Last night Frankfort police were holding a man believed to be implicated in the murder. They refused to divulge his identity.

There was no evidence that Colla, who was 41 years old, had been involved in any racket or criminal alliance, and the theory that he was the victim of execution was abandoned.

Daughter of Thos. Edison Seeks Seat in Congress

West Orange, N. J., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. John Eyre Sloane, daughter of the late Thomas A. Edison, is in the midst of a fight for the Republican congressional nomination in the 11th district of Essex county. She is running on a ticket that seeks to wrest control of the party in the county from a self-styled clean government faction which, she charges, is preventing the Republicans from becoming a united and vital force in the next election.

Lumber Falls Off Moving Truck; Man of 70 Killed

Edwin Wetterlund, 7126 Woodlawn avenue, died yesterday in the Little Company of Mary hospital, victim of a freak accident. He was standing at 116th street and Kedzie avenue Saturday when a truck loaded with lumber passed. Some lumber fell off the truck and struck Wetterlund. He was 70 years old.

SPALDING VIOLIN SCORES TRIUMPH IN PARK CONCERT

Vast Crowd Thunders Its Approval.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The hullabaloo in Grant park last night after Albert Spalding's performance of Sarasate's "Zigeunerwiesen," suggested football rather than music. The closely packed audience about the band shell found the noise of pounding palms inadequate to express its feelings and added enthusiastic shouts to the pandemonium.

The serious faced American violinist broke into broad, gratified smiles at the demonstration. This was only his second experience with Grant park audiences, for never until the first of last August did he attempt the experiment—a successful one as things turned out—of demonstrating his finely inflected art in these broad lake front acres.

Conveys Mysteries of Universe.

Into the gypsyish music which brought on the ovation Mr. Spaulding put the kind of metrical excitement which keeps a listener hanging pleadingly on each phrase. The slower, more sultry melodies of the piece achieved their terrific expressiveness as much by tone colorings as by rhythmic ping. Here were great, questioning phrases spoken in so dark and compelling a manner that the most practical mind among the audience could hardly have been denied a glimpse of the mystery which still—despite our best efforts—seems to underlie the world.

The Wieniawski Romance which preceded the "Zigeunerwiesen" was remarkable, among other things, for this same richness and variety of tone coloring. There is nothing artificial about this. Albert Spalding's superlative violin changes subtly in character as the feeling content of the music is intensified here, given a new twist there.

Steindel Conducts Admirably.

On the conductor's stand was a man cut from the same or a similar piece of artistic cloth as Mr. Spalding. Walter H. Steindel kept the orchestra eloquent where eloquence was called for, delicately coöperative when the immediate disideratum changed.

Ruth Fischer Lipstone, soprano, contributed to the program performances of Violetta's first act air from "La Traviata," a medley of songs from "Snow White," and a ballad. She has a wide range and is accurate as to pitch. Voice quality was too cold and production too labored in the aria. The other songs went better.

Today there are no fewer than eight outdoor concerts scheduled. Lincoln, Jackson, Garfield, and Grant parks each will be the scene of afternoon and evening [3 o'clock and 8 o'clock] performances. Tonight in Grant park Bobby Breen, 10 year old movie star, is soloist with Cavallo's Symphonic band.

12 RESCUED AFTER BOAT EXPLODES AND SINKS IN LAKE

Twelve persons, including five women and two boys, were rescued yesterday after a cabin cruiser exploded and sank five miles off Waukegan in Lake Michigan. The men, wearing life preservers, floundered in the cold water for more than an hour until aid came from a passing coal boat and a rescue crew from shore.

The women and boys escaped in a little dinghy that was being towed.

Those saved were Dr. and Mrs. B. E. Christensen and their son, Robert Christensen, 50 Highland drive; Mr. and Mrs. Bert O. Brand, 360 East Park avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roeber, 369 Central avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pease, 934 North St. John's avenue, and Dr. A. C. Lange, all of Highland Park; Miss Evelyn Gustafson, 2124 Lawrence avenue, Chicago, and Rod Gaiennie, 15, of 505 North Sheridan road, Waukegan.

The boat had gone out about five miles when a sudden explosion tore out its left side. Extra gasoline tanks were located there. Both Brand and Pease were singed by the flames.

KIDNAPER USES SPOON TO FREE SELF FROM JAIL

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 4.—(AP)—John Couch, 23 years old, St. Louis, Mo., confessed kidnaper of a St. Louis couple, escaped from the Ramsey county jail late today. Couch loosened a brick with a spoon next to a window in his first floor cell and dropped to the street. He was committed Aug. 17 following his arrest at Effie, Minn., when his companion, James Meridith, 21 years old, was fatally wounded in a gun fight with agents of the federal bureau of investigation and a sherif's posse. Couch and Meridith were identified by Miss Peggy Gross and Daniel C. Fahey as the pair who kidnaped them in Fahey's car in St. Louis Aug. 13. The couple was released near Osseo, Minn., after being bound with copper wire.

7 GIVEN MEDALS FOR RESCUING 2 ON STORMY LAKE

A happy aftermath to the lake rescue two weeks ago of Franklyn W. Chaffee and his son, Walter, 7, took place yesterday in their home at 437 Egendale road, Highland Park. Chaffee, a magazine executive, was host at a luncheon for seven men and boys who towed in his sailboat during a violent storm. The rescuers were given valor medals by the suburb's police chief, Edward Moroney. They are Michael O'Brien, 16, Hugh Reading, 17, Robert Earhart, 17, Milan Cobble, 15, Carl Johnson, 19, James Byrne, 52, and Robert Umbach, 25. All live in Highland Park.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

GIVING THE OFFICE

By CALEB

"AN ELEVATOR door slides open—and there at your elbow is the president, office and all, set for a conference with you, or whomever he may wish to see at the moment."

So reads an item describing the invention of a European manufacturer whose office has been built in the form of a gigantic elevator, raised or lowered at a moment's notice in a shaft beside his subordinates' quarters. It must be a trifle disconcerting to have the side of one's office disappear and immediately become the threshold of the president's.

It is doubtful whether the invention will achieve popularity in America—famed though we are for the dispatch and efficiency of our methods. Modern business, if it is to grow and expand in its service to society, eventually outgrows the detailed supervision of one man or one small group.

The old fashioned handicraft shop was conducted under the unwavering eye of the master craftsman. Every item of its output was inspected by him—often after he himself had led the pace in the day's production. That took one kind of managerial skill; modern business takes another.

One principle adopted by Marshall Field early in his business career was that of delegating responsibility and commensurate authority to able associates. The principle survives in our business today, and a sincere effort is made to keep responsibility in step with growing ability.

Supervision and the exercise of authority are studiously kept at the necessary minimum. This system quickly eliminates some types of individuals—but just as quickly rewards others who assume the obligations it implies. The net result is an automatically selective group of men and women able to make an intelligent contribution unhampered by too exacting routine.

The fact that this system has survived in our store through nearly a century of adherence speaks for itself. We feel that it has in no small measure contributed to the intangible but none the less real element we have come to describe (somewhat inadequately) as the "Marshall Field Spirit."

SCIENTIST FINDS NEW SUBSTANCE AIDING GROWTH

Believes It Exists in All Living Cells.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—A new "growth principle" having marked physiological action in speeding the growth of yeast and believed to be present in all living cells has been identified in liver. This discovery was made public here tonight by Prof. Roger J. Williams and Robert E. Eakin of Oregon State college on the eve of the ninety-sixth meeting of the American Chemical society.

Named "biotic acid" by its discoverers, the substance, although not yet concentrated to a high degree, exhibits distinctive physiological and chemical properties, declared Prof. Williams, who is the brother of Dr. Robert R. Williams of the Bell Telephone laboratories, discoverer of the chemical structure of vitamin B.

Isolation Difficult.

From preliminary work, Prof. Williams explained, it appears that the acid is of a chemical nature so complex that its isolation from tissue in pure form will be difficult. Liver extract is one of the richest sources of the new principle, which, however, is seemingly found everywhere in life.

"Hundreds of growth tests on yeasts have shown that biotic acid is different from any other growth substance which has hitherto been recognized," Prof. Williams said. "It possesses very definite acid properties, has a low molecular weight, is very difficult to absorb with charcoal, and it is easily oxidized.

The discovery of biotic acid at Oregon State college is the second major achievement of Dr. Williams' laboratory in learning the secrets of growth. Five years ago the existence of "pantothenic acid," a growth catalyst indispensable to the machinery of living cells, was announced by Dr. Williams.

Isolated as Calcium Salt.

Pantothenic acid, which has a stimulating effect on the growth of yeast when only one ounce of it is added to 62,000 tons of the medium used for culturing the yeast, recently has been isolated as a calcium salt in a nearly pure form and analyzed, Prof. Williams reported tonight.

As remarkable a biological factor as pantothenic acid is, the feeding of the new biotic acid as well as pantothenic acid to yeast caused a very marked acceleration of the growth rate and gave a much larger crop than is obtained when pantothenic acid is used alone, Prof. Williams said. Under carefully controled conditions yeast growth stimulation can be used to measure the amount of each acid present.

Obtained from Sheep Liver.

"The pantothenic acid was obtained from sheep liver, in which it occurs in about forty parts per billion," he continued. "After ten months of extensive purification, starting with 600 pounds of liver, one-tenth of an ounce of approximately 40 per cent pure material was obtained. This was further purified with difficulty, but resulted in a product at least 92 per cent pure."

The recent work by Prof. Williams on the chemistry of pantothenic acid has been aided by the Rockefeller Foundation. The research on biotic acid was carried on under a grant from Standard Brands, Inc.

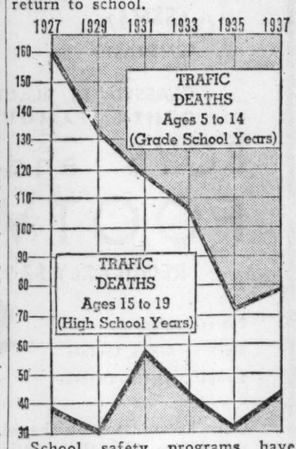
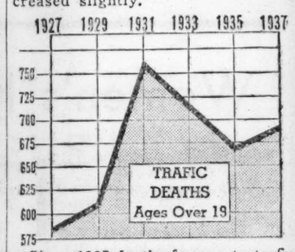
CHICAGO INJURIES 5-9 Years Old 1937
CHICAGO DEATHS 5-9 Years Old 1937

Auto trafic deaths and injuries among Chicago children of school age reach their peak during the vacation period and fall after they return to school.



School safety programs have sharply reduced the auto massacre since 1927 among children from 5 to 14 years old. Deaths among those of high school age have increased slightly.



Since 1927 deaths from auto trafic among adults have increased.

Killed in Car Crash While on Way to Visit Mother

Benton, Ill., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Eugene Hill, 24 years old, of Princeton, Ind., was killed today two miles from the home where he planned to visit his mother, Mrs. Hosea Hill. His car struck a truck parked along state highway 14 two miles east of Christopher, where Mrs. Hill lived.

SCHOOL BELL OR DEATH KNELL? DRIVE SAFELY!

650,000 Pupils Warned: Watch Out for Autos.

BY HAL FOUST.

"Watch out for automobiles."

These will be parting words from parents tomorrow morning as they send 650,000 or 700,000 children to Chicago's public and parochial schools. The hazards of trafic will be of particular concern to the parents of an estimated 44,000 boys and girls 5 and 6 years old who will be entering school for the first time.

For those mothers and fathers who would amplify this warning to their offspring, THE TRIBUNE this morning publishes on the back page a series of pictures illustrating the principal reasons why children are hit by automobiles. Motorists also will profit.

Six "Don'ts" for Children.

Don't play in the street.
Don't cross the street in the middle of a block.
Don't hitch a ride on a car bumper.
Don't stand in a street thumbing for a ride.
Don't run into the street chasing a ball.
Don't ride a bicycle in the middle of a pavement.

Trafic accident figures show that the boys and girls will be safer than they were during the summer vacation.

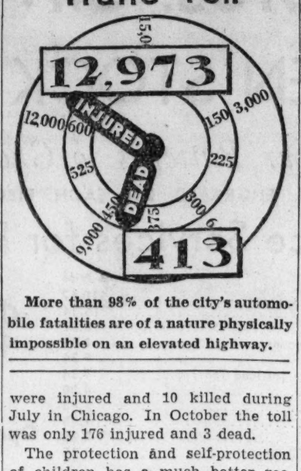
Toll Drops Sharply.

In 1937, a typical year, 243 children between the ages of 5 and 9 were injured and 10 killed during July in Chicago. In October the toll was only 176 injured and 3 dead.

The protection and self-protection of children has a much better record than safety work among adults. In 1927 160 children between the ages of 5 and 14 were killed in Chicago trafic. Last year there were 78 fatalities in this age group.

In the high school age group, from 15 to 19 years, and adult groups, there has been an increase in auto deaths.

THE MASSACRE Chicago's 1938 Trafic Toll



More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

Sparrow Alights on Woman Driver's Head; Car Crashes

Miss Margaret Clark, 19 years old, 1112 Asbury avenue, Evanston, went driving yesterday afternoon. She was paying careful attention to the suburb's numerous trafic rules when a sparrow flew into the car and tried to roost in her hair. This so disconcerted Miss Clark that she crashed into the automobile of Edward D. McGrew, which was parked in front of his home at 1204 Cleveland street. Miss Clark is the daughter of Stephen B. Clark, secretary of the Personal Loan and Savings bank.

1 KILLED, 5 HURT ON WAY HOME FROM TAVERN

Auto Is Smashed Against Light Pole.

One young woman was killed and five persons were seriously injured early yesterday when the automobile in which they were driving homeward from a suburban tavern crashed into a light pole at 2535 63d street.

The dead woman was Mrs. Lutimae Parker, 21 years old, 6150 Greenwood avenue, a divorcée. Other members of the party said she was a hostess in the Club Elgin at Summit. Two of the injured also were employed in the tavern. They are Miss Alice Parker, 25, who lived with Mrs. Parker, and Miss Nellie Sweet, 22, of 6334 South Green street.

Other Passengers Injured.

Allen Block, 26, 656 Wrightwood avenue, was the driver. The other passengers were Richard Cone, 23, of 5513 Cornell avenue, and Ned Strauss, 23, of 2456 East 72d street.

A hit and run driver killed one man and critically injured another at Division and Burling streets last night. The man killed was Samuel Puccio, 54 years old, 1223 Burling street. He and John Scardini, 49, of 732 North Ridgeway avenue, were walking across Division street on their way to a fiesta in Oak street when they were struck. Puccio was dragged nearly 300 feet. Scardini was knocked to one side.

Andrew O'Mara, 55 years old, 5552 Quincy street, died in the Frances Willard hospital of injuries suffered Aug. 26. He was struck at Madison street and Central avenue by an automobile driven by Harry Goldstone, 3929 West Jackson street. O'Mara was a guard at the Bridewell.

Dr. Harry Beatty, a member of the staf of Augustana hospital, was killed when his automobile was forced off highway 50, 20 miles west of Kenosha, Wis., and overturned three times.

Pedestrian Killed by Car.

Edward White, 77 years old, of Jericho road, Aurora, was killed when he was struck, near his home, by an automobile driven by L. R. Hood, 473 Palace street, Aurora.

Mrs. James Webb of Antioch died in Walworth county hospital in Elkhorn, Wis., of injuries suffered Saturday in an accident that caused the death of a Chicago woman, Mrs. John Williamson. The husbands of both women are in critical condition in the hospital.

Mrs. Carrie Connors, colored, 24 yeads old, of 3141 Calumet avenue, died in the County hospital of injuries suffered Saturday in a collision at 24th and Dearborn streets.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 543 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 413 were killed in Chicago. The city's injured in the same period were 12,973.

MUSSOLINI AND THE JEWS.

To call Mussolini's decrees against the Jews brutal and vile is to state the obvious. They offend every Christian instinct and teaching. Men and women throughout the world who have retained affection for Italy will be alienated by this persecution, as ruthless as it is cruel.

Mussolini's motive is a matter for conjecture. Perhaps the aim was to curry favor with Hitler by adopting his monomania. Perhaps it was to win the friendship of the Arabs. Perhaps he wished to divert the attention of the Italian people from their own misfortunes. Perhaps persecution of minorities is an inevitable accompaniment of Fascist tyranny. Perhaps the decrees represent nothing more than cruelty for its own sake.

Whatever the explanation may be, the decrees have their meaning for citizens of this country who desire to prevent similar persecutions here. The founders of this country were tolerant men and they were also highly intelligent men. Their tolerance made them abhor persecutions; their intelligence led them to see that only governments can persecute. It follows that to prevent persecutions of individuals or classes it is necessary to restrain government.

Men may be, and unfortunately generally are, prejudiced against some other men. Prejudice is irrational dislike. The record of the Jews in this country proves that prejudice alone can be survived and overcome. When government enters the game, however, the whole character of the thing changes. Prejudice then becomes persecution from which there is no escape except in flight or death.

The founders of this country recognized the obvious truth that the great menace to individual liberty of thought and creed is to be found in unrestrained government. They were liberals in the exact sense of the word; believing in freedom, they sought to hold government in check. Accordingly they set up a type of government which could not persecute individuals and classes not only because it was forbidden to do so but more especially because it was prevented from doing so by effective checks and balances within itself.

An American President, as yet, may not issue a decree discriminating against any religious group because congress, not the President, as yet, writes the laws. If congress enacted such a law the President might veto it and if he failed to do so the courts would declare it invalid as a violation of the bill of rights. Our system of government and the bill of rights, from beginning to end, are a protection to the citizen against oppressive laws and an oppressive government.

The founding fathers had their eye on the ball. Under their arrangement, in 150 years of national existence there has been no religious persecution in this country.

It is one of the strangest of anomalies that in spite of this record fugitives from persecution abroad and their descendants who have enjoyed sanctuary in this country can be found today approving recent trends in American government. Many Jews, for example, have applauded and some have been active participants in Mr. Roosevelt's efforts to break down the restraints upon executive authority imposed by the constitution. It seems obvious, but evidently it isn't to many, that once these restraints are gone minorities in America will be as completely at the mercy of a tyrant as the Jews in Germany and Italy are today.

Mr. Roosevelt desires a congress which will do his bidding without question and permit the executive, in effect, to write the laws; that is the meaning of the purge. He wants a Supreme court which will not invalidate a law; that was the meaning of the court packing fight. He wishes to take power from the states and the people and concentrate it in Washington and in his own hands, as Mussolini wields all power. There is no present reason to suppose that Mr. Roosevelt will use this power, if he gets it, to persecute any individual or any religious or racial minority, but he will have successors who may be of a different mind.

If so, those Jews and members of other minority groups who have supported the New Deal may live to curse their stupidity and folly. For very dubious advantages [Mr. Roosevelt's governmental innovations have produced little more than a new depression] they will have destroyed a form of government under which minorities have enjoyed uninterrupted freedom from persecution for a century and a half. There is no other important country in the world which can show an equally long and unbroken record of tolerance.

THE HOSTEL ROUTES.

America's extraordinary development of motor car trafic opened up the country to everybody in the most astonishing fashion, a phenomenon accepted as casually as if it were nothing at all—too casually for the people who are so recklessly killed and injured. To people abroad it seemed just another of the incredible things that crazy Americans did when they got started.

The country was opened up with a bang as the cars were improved and the roads laid down, but also in a fashion it was closed, closed to the more intimate junkets which had not carried people very far, but had furnished them real interest. Then with another characteristic spurt the country began going back to the bicycle, which had been a part of the more intimate journeying about.

We never did have the European habit or arrangements for taking to the open road, for the mountains, the lakes, or the forests without a speedy day by day schedule, but we are making a start principally for the sake of boys who ought not to be on their own in cars and who could have a lot of fun on bicycle tours if their safety and comfort could be provided cheaply. The hostel system is trying to do that. Tourists camps have done it for the wandering motorist who wants to travel economically. The hostels are on the safest bicycle routes which can be mapped out and they are inexpensive. In many the boys do their own cooking. They have decent surroundings and a hostel route is under enough supervision to keep it in shape.

Much as America has taken to the country, it has not made anything like full use of it, but the disposition to do so is growing. There's a great deal of America which has not been discovered yet.

POOR MEXICO.

The poor devils who are going to suffer terribly as the result of conditions developing in Mexico will be the Mexicans themselves. The policy of the Mexican government does injustice and injury to foreigners who thought they were making safe use of their money in Mexico in developing the resources with the consent of the government which admitted them and their money, but the injury to them will not be nearly so great as the damage done the very Mexicans who are insisting that foreign capital and foreign activity be robbed and penalized.

President Cardenas may be unable to do anything other than he is doing. He refuses to stop the confiscation of foreign owned properties, even of the smaller farm lands which Americans have been cultivating. They could not have obtained possession and use of the land without the consent of the government. They are not invaders. They wouldn't have gone into a land which rebuffed them. Mexico cannot pay them. Cardenas says it will when it can, but he knows that they cannot be reimbursed for the property taken away from them.

Mexican radical politics may make it impossible for the government to cease despoiling the foreigners. The economic effects of it further destroy the Mexican ability to pay anything. The loss of governmental revenue and the loss of money in pay rolls and from tourist trade will increase the destitution. Destitution and increased hardships will promote disorders and revolts against authority.

Mexican currency is depreciating. Paper money already has been used. The Mexicans who were getting their living from the foreign investments are deprived of it. The tourists who were increasing in numbers, attracted by the beauty and charm of much of the Mexican scenery, by the improved internal conditions, the promise of security, and the better roads will be driven away by the feeling that they are no longer welcome and, indeed, not safe in Mexico.

Foreign capital was not doing Mexico harm, but was increasing its productivity. It was doing what the Mexicans cannot do for themselves unaided. The best living conditions in the country were created in the areas in which foreign capital was invested and it was the very improvement in conditions which led the ambitious politicians and unintelligent workers to insist upon the policy of robbery. It threatens not only to set Mexico back economically but to hatch a dozen revolutions which, of course, will be blamed upon Fascist capitalists, whereas they will spring from radical politicos who find that their conduct has resulted in increasing the destitution of the people and in rebelliousness.

If it comes to the point where Mexico cannot pay its army the country will go back to the days following the overthrow of Diaz and the people who will suffer will be the Mexicans themselves. It's too bad, because Mexico, for a while, was in the way of a great improvement.

HOMAGE TO MURDERERS.

[London Times.]

Nothing could better illustrate the wide gulf that separates the Nazi outlook from that of public opinion in this and other countries than the decision of the German government to do special honor to the murderers of Dr. Dollfuss, the gallant chancellor of Austria for the two years before July, 1934, when he was brutally done to death. The anniversary of his assassination is being celebrated as a "festival" in honor of those who killed him, and who were afterward court-martialed and executed. The murderers are being treated as heroes, and another clear proof is given to the world of the pernicious Nazi doctrin that whatever is done in furtherance of Nazlism, however dastardly or however unjust, is right and noble, and whoever opposes Nazlism is a criminal. In the eyes of the present rulers of Germany Dr. Dollfuss and his successor, Dr. Schuschnigg, were guilty of traitorous proceedings because, in the exercise of their functions as heads of independent Austrian governments, they opposed the Nazi movement in Austria and were responsible for the punishment of those who broke the law in its advocacy. A good many of these agitators were executed, though there were never any executions on the scale of those carried out in Germany by the present reich leaders in June, 1934.

Dr. Dollfuss, as many of us came to know from personal contacts in this country, was himself the kindliest and most modest of men, but he was called upon at an exceedingly difficult moment to rule a turbulent Austria, in which National-Socialists on the one hand and the Socialists on the other were threatening the stability of constitutional government. The repressive measures to which the chancellor felt obliged to resort brought a revolt of the Socialists—which was violently suppressed; but they failed to check the terrorist acts of the Nazi agitators. Bridges and electric pylons continued to be blown up, churches were damaged, and police stations bombed; and there had been a first attempt on the life of Dr. Dollfuss in the autumn of 1933. Violence begot further violence, and undoubtedly the treatment of the agitators was harsh. But the form of law was observed by the authorities and the dynamiter had his trial before he was sent to the concentration camp or the scaffold.

Finally on July 25, 1934, one band of political hooligans seized the Vienna wireless station while another penetrated into the Ballhausplatz and killed the chancellor. The British government of the day expressed its "horror at this cowardly outrage." According to the official account the dying chancellor was refused the offices of either a doctor or a priest. Nevertheless his last words were reported to have been "I only wish for peace. May God forgive them"—the words of a Christian and a brave man who was a martyr to his cause, as Dr. Schuschnigg has now also become a martyr to the cause he believed in. Both may have made mistakes—who has not? But both assumed the chancellorship of the Austrian republic at times of difficulty and danger mainly from a sense of duty and because they believed intensely in the independence of Austria.

HOLIDAY SALUTATION

Welcome, Labor day, because you mark the end of all this nonsense of people being out of town on vacations when one wants to find his friends. Welcome, because you close the monotonous and dragging summer of those who are pent in cities, and usher in the stimulating and ambitious autumn. Welcome, because you mean a change in the cycle of life; because you send bored, shrill children back to school, where the happiest hours of their lives are spent; because you foretell that stirring in the blood which causes boys to build shanties in vacant lots, girls to put on their mothers' dresses in an instinctive reaching toward the fulfillment of maturity, and men to take up their tasks with refreshed vigor. Welcome, because you promise crisp and stirring Saturdays at the football games, the rich pageant of color in autumnal gardens and woodlands; the glamor of Indian summer, and the epic of the harvest time.

Labor day, dedicated to the workers of the nation by Act of Congress signed by President Cleveland on June 28, 1894, means that we rest to begin anew with bold and happy hearts. Back of its idleness there is a symbol of the creative spirit among all who toil for their daily bread, whether with their hands or their heads.

This column cannot knock off for the week-end of celebration, but it is in blithe communion with the anniversary. It rejoices, in fact, that it is not out on the perilous highways, bumping fenders with the thundering herd. So welcome, Labor day. We who stay at work are also sharers in your happiness.

Master Builder's Remorse.

A great Chicago architect, now dead, was once found making his way across the Loop by the alleys instead of the streets. A friend met him, expressed astonishment, and asked why he walked down the alleys.

"To avoid seeing any of the buildings that I have designed," was his answer.

SONNET FOR LABOR DAY

[This Labor day is the 164th anniversary of the first meeting of the first Continental Congress.]

Once more the theme of Freedom stirs the land
As Labor's footsteps, down the festive street,
Announce the holiday. The music sweet,
The proudly waving flags, the marching band
Of men pay honor to the worthy hand
Of toil. What intermingled interests meet
Today in open brotherhood to greet
The man who works! What mighty gaps are spanned!

Well may we all observe this gala day,
A double milestone on the long highway.
For Freedom, work, the right to march are ours
Through heritage from mankind's darkest hours.
The Continental Congress on this date
Began our freedom, planned the tyrant's fate!

Lake Street Mystery.

Answering R. H. K.'s query [9-1] as to the mystery of that lovely bit of green at 1380 West Lake street, near Loomis. This garden is owned and maintained by Dr. Mitchell S. Corbett, whose brick office building flanks it on the east. The fact that it is located in such a rundown district adds all the more to the illusion that here is a corner of heaven which fell at some early date.

Message Found in Bottle.

Four fishermen on Fox lake recently found a floating bottle. They uncorked it and discovered, much to their surprise, that it contained the customary message of distress. At great length three 16 year old high school girls gave their specifications, names and addresses, inviting an answer.

"We're really not as fresh," they added, "as writing this note makes us seem. We just thought it would be a good idea. If you should write to one of us, and the rest of us think you're nice, we'll write back."

The fishermen's wives impounded the document until the finders took solemn vows not to answer it. Then they sent it to the Line o' Type column. It will be placed in the Line's museum, where it may be inspected only by serious students of the Youth Movement.

SAD GIRL GRADUATE

I've studied in Chaucer and Homer and Dante,
I quote lines of Shakespeare and parts,
I speak foreign languages known the world over,
I'm a master of Liberal Arts.

I know biology, physics, all sciences,
Each little mark on the map;
I know all the wars that are taught in our histories,
But still I'm considered a sap.

I've studied most everything printed for reading,
And now I am ready to sob.
They all want experience. They must have experience,
So here I am minus a job.

I've wandered all over to seek a position
As manager, teacher, or clerk.
They tell me my schooling is better than average,
But still they don't put me to work.

So after my yearning and dreaming and learning
I fear that the past I shall rue.
For really I might have been gaining experience—
Now what is a poor girl to do?

HYGIENE OF SCHOOL DAYS.

THE job of being a parent demands no small amount of sagacity, but it is one at which few work as consistently, perhaps, as they should. Only when Johnny has committed some offense too flagrant to be passed over will dad be called in to advise or to chastise.

With the opening of school, however, many fathers and mothers will exhibit unwonted interest, and two or three weeks before the grand event the lad may be cautioned and instructed as to what or what not to do until his thoughts are in a mad whirl. No member of the family seems to be able to view the situation calmly. As a result, when opening day arrives, the excitement, the strangeness of the new room, a different teacher, unfamiliar faces may throw a boy or girl into a state of nervous tension which is anything but desirable.

But what general hygienic rules may be observed? While there is a saving in purchasing second hand books, nevertheless good sanitation cannot look with favor upon used texts that have been thumbed over, possibly coughed into by strangers. Then, too, the pages may have been turned by fingers moistened with saliva. While few noxious germs can live for long, even in a dirty looking volume, yet an all important lesson in cleanliness is lost.

The grade school program that calls for much more than an hour daily of home study is faulty. The time is needed for healthful outdoor play, as the body is growing rapidly and the heart, lungs, abdominal organs, and the nervous system are all engaged in laying the foundation for manhood and womanhood.

If the child is active, more food than that consumed by an adult will be required and meals should be hot and well cooked. While cold package lunches may do in an emergency, they cannot be relied upon to furnish the nutritional elements which are essential, and fresh vegetables and fruits must be supplied as generously as circumstances will permit. Sweets constitute ready sources of energy, but a growing boy or girl may throw far too great a burden on the cells of the pancreas if sugar in the blood rises to too high a level. A fairly large helping of meat may be included at least once a day, for muscles are not only being used but are increasing in size.

Two of the senses, particularly, must be guarded jealously—eyesight and hearing. Every cold is a potential menace to the apparatus within the middle ear, and not only an expensive illness but actual dulling of sound perception may follow a neglected nose or throat infection. It is not only wiser but safer to keep junior home and in bed for a day or two should one of these infections appear, than to oblige him to fight off the malady with gradually decreasing resistance. When a pain in the ear is complained of, not a moment should be lost in securing expert assistance. An abscess may be in the making, with possible rupture of the eardrum.

Eyesight is too precious to lose, and both the teacher and the nurse can do much in the protection of vision. If the pupil scowls or narrows the eyelids as he peruses the printed page or has difficulty in reading the directions placed upon the blackboard, an examination may disclose some easily remedied defect.

Then, finally, the teeth must be considered, as during the elementary years the youngster is building for firm permanent ivories. This means that all sticky, soft foods must be cleaned away after each meal, as they predispose to dental decay.

While we may regard rubbers and overshoes as unsightly, they are not only health preservers, but even life savers. No child should be allowed to sit anywhere or at any time with wet or even damp feet, and proper foot covering is the answer. Galoshes may be a nuisance, but they are as essential as an overcoat for the blustery days of winter.

PREMATURELY AGED.

P. T. writes: Is there anything to prevent premature aging? A young woman is losing her hair, teeth, hearing, and vision. Why do some persons age more rapidly than others? Is this an inherited tendency?

REPLY.

It may be inherited, but the chances are that the patient is ill—that she is harboring some infection which is depleting her reserve. Again, a dietary deficiency may be responsible. Every effort should be made to find the weak spot. The chances are that the condition can be remedied. Some parts of the body age more rapidly than others. This is observed chiefly in the scalp through falling hair [baldness] and premature graying, but even these episodes can be traced in many instances to some physical or glandular failure.

INFECTED SINUSES.

M. S. writes: Every night after I go to bed I have trouble with phlegm dropping into my throat. I have to keep spitting it up and this disturbs my rest.

REPLY.

Your sinuses, including the posterior nasal space, probably are infected. This is the old-fashioned catarrh of the days of our grandparents. Irrigating the air passages with some mild antiseptic will help, although a permanent cure may require drainage of some of these spaces.

SLEEP WALKING.

L. W. writes: What causes a person to walk in his sleep? It usually happens when I eat before retiring.

REPLY.

Nervousness, due to a variety of causes. The subconscious mind takes charge. Most of us fail to act out our dreams. The confirmed sleepwalker should be under supervision, as occasionally serious accidents will occur. The old belief that such persons are never injured is incorrect. Why not omit your late lunch?

METAL IRRITANTS.

M. H. writes: Whenever I touch metal of any kind, the skin becomes irritated and reddish. Is this due to something I eat or to the state of my blood?

REPLY.

Probably neither. It is due to the fact that your skin is sensitive to metals. You can be desensitized, but this is a rather long-drawn out process. Why not avoid contacts?

ULCER ON THE EYE.

R. C. writes: What causes an ulcer on the white part of the eye?

REPLY.

Irritation, some dietary deficiency, injury, or bacterial infection.

CASE OF THE DAIRY FARMER.

Evanston, Ill., Sept. 1.—Has the Chicago milk investigation been shelved? I hope not. Something should be done about it or the dairy farmers will all become bankrupt and have to go on relief.

It was reported that the dairy farmer in the Chicago Pure Milk association was getting 4 cents a quart for milk. This is not true now. He is getting only 3 cents a quart.

The average dairy farmer has a herd of twenty or thirty cows. Some of them are always dry, so he never has this number to milk. This means an investment of two or three thousand in cows and about this amount in machinery. He works from daybreak until after dark, has to hire a man to help keep everything sanitary, and at no time does he make as much as our delivery men who bring milk to the consumers door each morning [and who have no investment connected with their job, or am I correct?]

Will not some one come to the aid of the distressed dairy farmers in the Pure Milk association of Chicago? I failed to mention the investment in land or rental which adds to the expense of the dairy farmer.

MORE LIGHT ON DE KALB NORMAL.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—I, too, was interested in the De Kalb Teachers' college letter in your columns, but before I made charges I looked into the matter and these are the findings:

The subject was brought to the attention of some normal board members toward the close of the last administration before Gov. Horner was elected. For the last three years charges of poor administration have been presented to the normal board and a committee of the normal board has gone over the matter carefully. It is unfortunate this is election year, but if you will look into the matter you will find the only politics played was in the recent action of the board in delaying action because "politics" has been hurled at them.

I, too, was interested in Gov. Horner's "keeping schools out of politics" and I find he surely has in this case. If he wanted to remove a normal president and give the office to a friend why did he not do it three years ago? He had the power then to make the change.

Surely N. I. is not the Champaign writer's alma mater or he would not care to have its troubles cast on the turbulent waters to be tossed about by scandal lovers.

NOT A DEMOCRAT.

HE WOULD ORGANIZE.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—J. P. Samson's problem as stated in Tuesday's TRIBUNE is a common one. There are thousands of others [myself included] in the same fix—thrown on the human scrap pile at 45 years of age—because of the stupid age limit rule of modern industry, denied employment on WPA because we have acquired a roof over our head, or a small life insurance policy. We are still the forgotten man, forced to live off of the earnings of our children, which is humiliating to us and unfair to them.

Writing letters to newspapers, appealing individually to public officials, or discussing the problem on street corners, will not solve it. There is only one way our grievance will be heard and adjusted, and that is by organization. As a body we can obtain help in our plight.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Will some one who knows tell us something about the electric fountain in Lincoln park in 1893? JEFFERSON'S FAILURES.

Maywood, Ill., Sept. 2.—In speaking of the failures of President Jefferson and the loss of his popularity, Henry Adams, in his History of the United States, wrote in part as follows:

"He had undertaken to create a government which should interfere in no way with private action, and he had created one which interfered directly in the concerns of every private citizen in the land. He had come into power as the champion of state rights, and had driven states to the verge of armed resistance.

"He had begun by claiming credit for stern economy, and ended by exceeding the expenditure of his predecessors. So complete was his overthrow that his popular influence declined even in the south . . .

"On horseback, over roads impassable to wheels, through snow and storm, he hurried back to Monticello to recover in the quiet of home the peace of mind he had lost in the disappointments of his statesmanship."

FEEDING THE PIGEONS.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—On my way to the office this morning a man was seen feeding peanuts to a raft of loop pigeons but on closer observation from the car which was stopping for signals, it was noted that this considerate person was skinning off the brown skin of each individual peanut before throwing it to the poor starved pigeons. In order to do it up right, shouldn't this man have had a little grist mill along to grind up the peanuts so the pigeons wouldn't have to swallow them whole?

ONE WORD, PLEASE.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—I draw your attention to the fact that on the Grant park concert's program tonight and several times before the name of the famous composer of "Pagliacci" was written Leon Cavallo in two words, as if Leon were the Christian name and Cavallo his family name. [The latter word means "horse" in Italian.] Allow me to say, that the right name is Leoncavallo, written in one word. His full name was Ruggiero Leoncavallo.

POSTERS ON TREES.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—I have been trying to keep our community [Woodlawn] free from illegal advertising attached to light poles and our ugly elevated structure. The latest offender is the "Chicago Park District—Recreation Division." They have nailed hundreds of posters to our parkway and Jackson park trees.

Of course I tore down all I could find. It may be important to advertise a "Bathing Beauty Contest," but the authorities should find a legal way and not be a shining example for other law breakers.

OLD AGE PENSION.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My husband has an aunt living in Illinois. She will be 80 years old this coming January. Two years ago she applied for her old age pension and [1] her case worker told her she would have to sign over her property to them.

2. This she did.

3. Is this legal? There are people living in my neighborhood who have property and are getting relief.

4. How can I get her property back?

A. F. P.

1. The Illinois statute provides that accumulated pension payments shall be a charge against any estate that the pensioner owns at the time of his death. There is no provision for property to be turned over to the state during the pensioner's lifetime.

2. We doubt if you are correct on your facts.

3. See 1 and 2.

4. The first step would be to make sure as to the facts. You might try to talk with her case worker.

Show Horses to Appear Next in Wayne Ring

BY JUDITH CASS.

WITH the Fort Sheridan horse show behind them, riding enthusiasts are making preparations to watch or to participate in Chicagoland's next show, one at the Dunham Woods Riding club in Wayne next Sunday. Spectators at these informal events usually watch from their cars around the ring, and a large part of the parking space already has been reserved.

Mrs. William D. Bangs, Dr. and Mrs. Wallace D. Mackenzie, the Herbert P. Zimmermans, the Raymond O. Mitchells, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Ashcraft III., William A. Drake, Mrs. William S. Monroe, the Edgerton A. Throckmortons, the junior Samuel Insulls, the Chauncey Blairs, the Henry Stantons, and Arthur Westphal are among those who have reserved parking space.

Among those who already have entered horses are Arthur Farwell, Joy Morton, Mrs. Walter Durfurth, Margery Lloyd, Nathan McClure, Barbara McClure, Miss Virginia Cardwell, Mrs. John de Koven Bowen, Charles Lindsay III., Hope Casselberry, Jeanette Buckley, and Mrs. John Dole. The judges will be Mrs. Orton L. Prime of Oconomowoc, Wis., and Brock Fuller and Parrish Lewis of Milwaukee.

Vacationers Begin Homeward Trek.

"Right after Labor day," has been the answer to almost every recent query as to when a vacationer will return home, so tomorrow will see the start of the homeward trek. From north, east and west the travelers will come, some in automobiles, some by train, some by boat and others by plane. Families with children of school age always have to rush home "right after Labor day." In every resort there is almost a general exodus immediately after that holiday.

Debutante Jane Kreuscher and her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Philip H. Kreuscher will return from their Land o' Lakes, Wis., home Wednesday. The Earle J. Zimmermans and their debutante daughter, Miss Jane Zimmerman, plan to remain at Lake Geneva until Sept. 22, so it is likely that Miss Zimmerman will miss some of the September debutante festivities.

Miss Zimmerman and Miss Mary Louise Corley are to make their debuts at a joint party, a supper dance at the Casino on Dec. 26. Miss Corley's parents are the Frederick D. Corleys. Miss Zimmerman has finished her schooling. Miss Corley is a student at Bennington.

Michigan Popular for Holiday Jaunts.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Mansfield went to Leland, Mich., to spend the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Holt of Indianapolis. The Mansfields' daughter and son-in-law, the junior John J. Bowens, who have been occupying the Jefferson Curriers' Lake Forest home this summer, will move to the guest house on the Mansfield grounds Sept. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Scudder are spending the long week-end at Charlevoix, Mich. This week they will move to the new house they have bought in Lake Forest from Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert E. Porter III.

Miss Sally Jane Crowder, daughter of the Gilbert Crowders, has returned from a ten day houseparty at the Desbarats, Ont., home of Mrs. John I. Marshall and her son, John I. Marshall Jr. Miss Crowder, about the first of last year's debutantes to embark upon a career, is back at work in an antique shop in Hubbard Woods. She plans to continue until Christmas time. After the first of the year she will enter the Art institute to study interior decorating.

Mr. and Mrs. William Shippen Jenks are entertaining a family house party in their summer home at Lake Beulah, Wis., over the week-end. Mrs. Jenks' brother, Edwin F. Gillette, is there from his home in California, and so is one of Mr. Gillette's daughters, Mrs. Howard Austin Will, and her baby. Mr. Will, Miss Helen Gillette, and the latter's fiancé, John Merryweather, all are at the lake for the holiday.

The John C. Mechems will return to their Lake Forest home the middle of September. They are spending the summer, as usual, at Annisquam, Mass.

Summer's End Brings a Rush to New Clothes

BY RHEA SEEGER.

All clothes collectors will rush back to town to get their new clothes before the most exciting models are snapped out of the collections by enterprising earlier shoppers! Back from the fun of wearing casual clothes into the whirl of dressing up again.

The sleek sophisticated dirndls, made in clinging crêpes and fine thin wools are joys to behold. These dirndls, with intricate shirring and front fullness contrived by experts, are entirely different from the naive affairs of cotton and peasant linens shown during the summer.

Back to the perilous fun of finding a suitable new hat, whether you brush your hair up or let it stay down. Back to fascinating new fall colors, subtle flatterers, every single new shade. Spice, green the color of sage, imperial purples, strange illusive plum and citron tones, gaudy plaids, stripes that rival the glory of the most eye blinding awnings—these are the colors that will greet you.

Smart clothes make your return to town a pleasure. You enjoy the shops where new fashions are designed, tried and established almost in the flicker of an eye. A new color, a new silhouette, a new combine can make fashion history this season.

Early fall suits take inches from the streamline. Trim, slim, extremely young models are capable of giving a new personality to all who wear them.

The Housewife

If you're wondering how to curtain a window in a bedroom that needs all the outside light it can get we suggest you try a clever combination of two tones of a sheer, silky material such as celanese voile, or ninon. We saw a window hung with the sheer voile, recently, and it was a great success.

Two tones of peach were used, the darker verging on a light rust. The draperies were made by seaming the two together up the middle. They were gathered on a narrow brass rod and caught back in full folds by a decorative tie-back of silver composition leaves. The lighter of the two colors hung next the wall.

Such a treatment is delightfully different, is not at all costly, and permits a bedroom to have the maximum of daylight. No over-draperies are needed. EDITH WEIGLE.

Dreamy Music Traps Cupid, Says Maestro

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Let the students swing it.
And the business girl do the shag.
And the intellectual maiden truck into relaxation with the floy floy.

But the girl who has her eye on a husband and a home of her own should hitch her dancing slippers to the dreamier tempos.

These are the pronouncements of Marek Weber, famous Viennese maestro, who has observed the workings of music and romance in castles and cafés throughout Europe. Many a romance has flowered under the wizardry of his baton and his symphonic dance music.

"The violent and acrobatic dances of this age are most humorous and healthful," says Mr. Weber. "Two young persons who leap and gyrate and shake their index fingers at one another are, no doubt, improving their circulation and their appetites.

"I approve of swing. It stimulates students to wholesome exercise. It helps the professional woman to keep her escort of the evening on a 'good pal' basis. It is good for settled couples who need to be shaken out of their placidity with a good romp.

"But," sighed Mr. Weber, "it is not the music for the young woman who hopes to establish a home and a family. It is a pity that marriageable young women must expose themselves to the 'floogee rival.'

"Swing is the music of change, of restlessness, of nervous energy. It makes one's escort feel unsettled. He becomes too—how you say it—jittery, to sit quietly and look into her eyes.

"He jerks his shoulders, taps his foot on the floor—wishes to jump around like the thoughtless young—like a puppy."

Such a state of mind, said Mr. Weber, does not make gay bachelors into heads of families.

The tender, singing music of the masters carries a sense of the past and the future. Gay tunes, yet with an undertone of thought and sadness, bear a message to the emotions. They sing that youth is sweet and youth is short, philosophized the maestro; that it is good when your hair is gray to have a love to shield you from the chilly stars.

"But swing music," twinkled Mr. Weber, smiling proudly over his mastery of American slang, "swing music says—'Toodle-oo, Toots, I will be seein' you.'

"Since the world war you have had more than a score of new and—is my pronunciation correct?—'screwy' dances," said Mr. Weber. "You have had the turkey trot, the grizzly bear, the bunny hug, tango, hesitation, Charleston, Lindy Hop, rhumba, Big Apple, Suzie Q. You have also had restlessness, divorces, flit-flit marriages.

"I do not say that your pace is the result of your music or that your music is the result of your pace. But I do say that if your music were more tranquil it would have its effect on you."

The Week's Wash

New York, Sept. 4.—[Special.]—The Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilts expect an heir, or heiress . . . He has quit the night club circuit cold. . . . . With Carole Lombard house hunting in Brentwood, it won't be long now before the Clark Gables arrive at that Reno decision . . . He and Carole will be married immediately the decree is valid. . . . The town is betting 3 to 1 that Lupe Velez and Libby Holman will have a hair pulling match as a result of cracks that have been uttered. . . . Walt Disney is only awaiting Leopold Stokowski's O. Ditto Mrs. Arthur Kudner, wife of the advertising biggie. . . . Norma Shearer switched plans at the last moment and trained out for the coast. . . . Pat Wing out of the Toby Wing show. . . . Jackie Osterman, when he learned that the Hines jury had seen a private showing of "You Can't Take It with You" cracked: "They'll probably give Lionel Barrymore two years." . . . Priscilla Lane. A hit in new film.

Patricia Ellis. A hit on Broadway.

Despite all the wails, there's plenty of business in New York's gay spots. . . . Attractions that are great are coining money. . . . They're naming cigars after Zorina. . . . George McDonald paid $3,500,000 for half of the Doherty hotels in Florida. . . . Doherty is the utilities magnate. . . . If Louis B. Mayer is interested, he can buy Hialeah Park in Florida from Widener. . . . Town amused at the news from coast that morals clause was inserted in Woody Van Dyke's new five year ticket at M. G. M. . . . Woody's only fault is that he is a one-take director. . . . He doesn't fuss around with scenes; he just up and takes 'em. . . . And they turn out all right, too. . . . "Four Daughters" looks like one of the heavier grossers of the season. . . . Exhibitors are raving over Priscilla Lane, Gale Page and John Garfield. . . . Performers say that the hottest amusement town right now is Chicago, with vaudeville and night clubs coining heavy currency.

Whatever happened to Marlene Dietrich? . . . A. C. Blumenthal is so small he probably stowed away in June Lang's powder compact. . . . Real purpose of his trip is to work on a British film merger. . . . It's a baby girl at Frank Chayes [she was songbird Vivian Ray]. . . . Playboys of the town making passes at Patricia Ellis, who is an eyeful at Casa Manana. . . . Aside to Groucho Marx: They're picketing your drug store on the Stem. . . . Up to the time that Dave Selznick paid Lou Holtz $14,000 to buy off his contract, Holtz had a sneaking suspicion Selznick wanted him to play Scarlett O'Hara. . . . The east wants Bette Davis or Katharine Hepburn to play it. . . . Before the ciggie moguls signed Bob Benchley for his radio stint, they asked him if he smoked: "Only marihuana," Benchley assured 'em.

Interesting item: I introduced Mayor La Guardia, Jack Dempsey, Fred Astaire, Police Commissioner Valentine, and Norma Shearer at an affair the other night. . . . Jimmy got the biggest hand! . . . Al and Jimmy Ritz training out for the coast. . . . Harry Richman goes to the Chez Paree on the 9th. . . . Maxine Marlow, in the Phil Spitalny crew, will become Mrs. James Doyle. . . . Ginger Harmon, who swings "Tisket-a-Tasket" for Spitalny, is the hottest thing to hit this town since Ella Logan and Martha Raye. . . . Freddie Bartholomew, heading east next month for personals. . . . If Sid Solomon opens a supper club, he'll ask Park Commissioner Moses for permission to call it "Central Park Casino." . . . They expect 250,000 visitors a day for the world's fair.

Lucius Beebe did an interesting article the other a. m. on the "shills" of the town, the fashionables who wear jewelry and gowns and furs to first nights to exhibit them. . . . In return, they are always well dressed. . . . It would have been more interesting if Lucius had recalled the time when he used to do the same thing. . . . Once he wore a diamond boutonniere and hit page 1. . . . Reason Hal Kemp, on the Astor roof, turns his back to the audience when he plays torch songs, is that his eyes fill up. . . . In other words, the big Carolina fellow, who is one of the nicest, is carrying a torch himself.

Good Morning!

Beautiful ice skating and dancing, both solo and ensemble, lend distinction to the utterly impossible story that constitutes Sonja Henie's latest starring vehicle.

It's a collegiate yarn and a phoney re anything pertaining to things or people collegiate. Of course, the idea behind the writing was to provide Norway's gift to the rinks with opportunity—not only for displaying her skating prowess, but for wearing clothes, clothes, clothes. In this aim the writers succeeded. Otherwise—it is to laugh—or cry. Take your pick.

Kristina Nielson, a department store girl, is discovered by the boss' playboy son, practicing her skating. . . . Learning that she is eligible for university work, having gone to high school in Norway, George Cabot Jr. conceives an idea. . . . She shall be sent to college. First one. Then another. And while receiving an education, wear Cabot clothes, changing many times a day, but never under any consideration letting on that she's a mannikin luring trade.

Kristina's adventures in the halls of learning where she steals another girl's boy friend; her sad experience as an innocent "other woman" in a divorce scandal, etc., take up much reelage. She is about to participate in a school skating carnival when the scandal blows up. Her mates loyally rush to her rescue . . . the finale finds the entire college lending prestige to a store fashion show. And it's some show! An ice carnival.

Due to her aversion to diets the Henie face grows chubbier and chubbier, and despite all her exercise her figure is far from lean. She has learned to speak English well, if not fluently, and you do like her friendliness and her enthusiasm.

Richard Greene, ballyhooed as the boy destined to put Robert Taylor on the skids, is clever and handsome. But there's still room for Robert. Cesar Romero contributes some eccentric comedy and Louise Hovick is a beautiful sight to see.

The skating sequences have not to my way of thinking been equaled in former pictures that Miss Henie has made.

See you tomorrow.

Tenderfoot's Inheritance

By Marie De Nervaud

SYNOPSIS.

Anne Claxton arrives from New York at the Wyoming ranch she has inherited, after refusing the last minute proposal of her city beau, Gerald. Steve Hayward, neighbor ranch owner, tells her that Jake Collins, who owns the adjoining ranch, expects to buy her heavily mortgaged ranch, but her uncle never would sell to him. Anne determines to stay and fight. She is immediately attracted to Steve, but Gwen Collins, Jake's daughter, shows a proprietary attitude toward him. She wins over old Tim Salter, her uncle's foreman, and Whitey, a handsome ranch hand. She finds the house in disorder and a gun missing from the rack. Tim thinks Collins had been there and threatened her uncle with the gun and that her uncle died from a heart attack. Collins calls with Lawyer Bill Jennings and turns ugly when she refuses to sell. When Steve advises her to sell she is cool to him. He is offended and jealous of Whitey. Anne expects her former boss, Mr. Trainor, and his family as paying guests at the ranch. Collins serves notice that he is going to fence in the water holes, which he claims are on his property. Whitey takes Anne to a local dance. Jake Collins, drunk, insults Anne. Steve fights him. Anne runs off without thanking him. She writes him a note but receives no answer. Anne tactfully refuses a proposal from Whitey. Gerald arrives unexpectedly to visit Anne. She makes him stay at the hotel in town.

INSTALMENT XXV.

THE MISSING RIFLE.

In a way it was a relief to Steve to have this break with the Collins family. While he was facing things, he might as well admit that Gwen had her lasso and was ready to hog-tie him to matrimony at the first chance. He'd slipped that noose, but he'd have to watch his step. Neither Gwen or her father were the kind to forget.

The weeks passed in dull and uneventful routine. Except for the occasional news that one of his punchers brought back from town Steve had no touch with anything outside the ranch.

One break, that only served to increase his bitter scorn of his infatuation, had been the note from Anne.

Coming a week after the event, as it did, it seemed to Steve a mere gesture of convention.

"Thought she had to thank me for fighting for her, did she?" He tore the note to tiny pieces and threw them away. "Well, she's done it, so now we're quits. She and Whitey'll have no letter from me to laugh over!"

It was two months later when Steve topped a rise in the mesa one afternoon to come face to face with Gwen.

She made a very different picture from the last glimpse he had had of her, furious with anger, above her father's prostrate figure. As he nodded and would have ridden by, she stopped him.

"I've been waiting for you." Gwen never minced matters. "I decided to give you two months to make some move. You didn't, so here I am."

"I couldn't see that there was any move to make," Steve said slowly. "I'm sorry your father has had such a bad time. I'm glad to hear he's better."

"He's coming home on Monday." Gwen dismissed her father as of no importance at the moment. "What I want to talk about is you and me."

Steve stiffened warily in the saddle.

"I'm sorry I lashed out at you the way I did," her gaze never left his. "It wasn't only the fact of your fighting with dad. It was your fighting for that—that tenderfoot interloper that made me so mad." The black eyes flashed. "I've realized since what a fool I was. I've always valued our friendship and I don't want it broken up. Will you let bygones be bygones?"

It was impossible to refuse the hand Gwen held out as she finished her speech. In spite of his reserve Steve couldn't help admiring the forthright courage with which she cut down his defenses.

"Of course," he took Gwen's hand. "It's generous of you to put it that way. I'm afraid your father won't see it in the same light though."

"I'll bring him around." Gwen relaxed in the saddle with a gay laugh of relief. "Come back to the house for supper. I won't believe we're friends again until you've broken bread with me." As Steve hesitated, she added, "It's been pretty lonesome the last two months."

"I can't stay for supper," Steve said, "but I'll ride back with you."

He swung Dynamite about, and together they headed for the Triangle Three.

The figure of a horseman loomed on the horizon. A short time later he was within hailing distance. Steve recognized Whitey as he turned and cut south toward the X Bar 9.

"He'll soon be your permanent neighbor, from all I hear."

Steve made no comment. His heart was weighted down with actual physical pain at this thought.

"Even if you won't stay for supper you'll stop for a moment?"

Before Steve quite realized how it happened he found himself going up the porch steps with Gwen.

Gwen stooped to push a clutter of strange objects that were piled near the hammock to one side.

"Sure I can't help you?" With a shake of her head Gwen disappeared. Steve glanced curiously at the odd assortment of junk on the porch.

There were some rusty cans and a battered wooden box, but the thing that particularly took his eye was a rifle. The barrel was corroded with rust, but the butt had the look of a gun that had once been the best of its kind. Steve was examining the gun, squinting through the barrel, when Gwen came back.

"Some curiosity, isn't it?" she called out as she set her tray on the table. "Dad's going to be surprised to see that, all right."

"How'd it get in this shape?" Steve asked.

"That's a mystery," Gwen explained. "I never saw it before. Dad's never owned a gun like that. I've been doing a lot of clearing up while Dad's been away and I decided to have the old well out by the kitchen cleaned out. We haven't used it for years, but I thought it might come in handy for the stock if we had another drouth. That's some of the truck that came out of it. Goodness knows how long that gun's been there, or how it ever got there in the first place."

Steve fingered the grip with sudden interest. Memories of that first night Anne had spent at the ranch came back to him. What was that Tim had said about one of old man Claxton's guns being missing? And about his guns being made to order with a special straight stock? He had never seen a rifle made with less drop. As he remembered the guns on the rack in the Claxton living room, this would be a perfect match to the others.

"Did you tell your father about finding it?" Steve laid the gun across his knees and took the glass Gwen offered him.

"No, I haven't bothered him with any details of the ranch. He's been pretty sick, you know," Gwen's eyes clouded.

Steve set down his glass and picked up the gun again.

"I kind of think this might be fixed up with some oil and sandpaper and a whole lot of elbow grease," he suggested. "Suppose I take it along and try to see what I can do with it? An extra gun always comes in handy. I have a notion I can bring it back into first class shape. How about keeping it dark a while longer and then giving your dad a real surprise with an A1 gun?"

"All right, take it along and see what you can do with it," Gwen agreed easily.

"Why not keep mum about having the well cleaned out until I get the gun back?" Steve added as an apparent afterthought.

"All right," Gwen agreed again. Her tone was absent-minded and it was clear that the gun was figuring very slightly in her thoughts. She leaned over impulsively and put a hand on Steve's knee.

"Haven't you missed me at all, Steve, all these weeks?"

Steve's excitement over the gun gave way before the wary presentment of danger these words, and even more, the look in Gwen's eyes, brought to the fore.

"Sure, I've missed you." He resorted to a hardy impersonal tone to fend off further intimacy. Pretending not to notice the hand on his knee he picked up the gun and rose to his feet. "I've got to be getting back. Slip me word when you think your dad won't shoot me at sight if I turn up again. So long."

Anger blazed in Gwen's eyes at the rebuff. With tightened lips her eyes followed him to the gate. He turned and waved, but Gwen's hands stayed glued to her sides.

Chicago the middle of September from Vergennes, Vt., where they are visiting their mother, Mrs. John H. Winterbotham.

Overseas Travelers Returning Home.

Mrs. Cyrus Bentley will return home from a trip to England the middle of September.

Also returning home the middle of this month from a trip abroad are Mr. and Mrs. Carroll H. Sudler Jr.

Mrs. J. Raymond Murphy and her daughter, Miss Marice Murphy, will return from a trip to Santa Fe, N. M., about Sept. 15.

Mrs. John Milton Trainer Jr. and her children are returning on Sept. 15 from Stockholm, Sweden, where they have been visiting Mrs. Trainer's parents, Col. and Mrs. Sperling Gyllenkrok.

Mrs. William H. Wilder and her daughter, Miss Margaret Wilder, are visiting in Vermont and in Boston, Mass. They will be away until the end of September.

Dr. and Mrs. Cabot Brown of San Francisco will be passing through Chicago late this month on their way east. Probably the only Chicagoans they will see, however, will be Mrs. Brown's sisters, Mrs. Graham Aldis and Mrs. Luther Hammond Jr., for they will be here just for one day. The Aldises are remaining in their Lake Forest home until the end of September. Their daughter, Mary Cornelia, leaves Sept. 26 for Milton academy.

Mrs. Charles Bromwell will return from a trip abroad some time in October. She visited her son-in-law and daughter, Admiral Sir Sidney and Lady Bailey at their home in England. At present she is visiting in France. After her return she will spend some of her time in Lake Forest with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Bromwell, and some of her time in town.

Anne Daughaday Going to Mount Holyoke.

A name for the debutante list for a year from now is that of Anne Daughaday, daughter of the Hamilton Daughadays of Winnetka. Miss Daughaday, a graduate of the North Shore Country Day school, is entering Mount Holyoke college this month. Her elder sister, Miss Harriet Daughaday, is in Boston this year, living at the Stuart club and working as registrar at the Child-Walker School of Design.

Hamilton Daughaday Jr., who has been a counselor at a boys' camp, has returned to Winnetka. In a few weeks he will go back to Harvard for his junior year.

The Gilbert Smiths have left Winnetka after a visit of about a week with the Arthur W. Cushmans, and have gone to Camp Wipigaki in Wisconsin to visit Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Roswell B. Mason, at her summer home. The Smiths will be living in Pensacola, Fla., this winter, for he has been transferred from the naval air base at Coronado to the one at Pensacola.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Wiley are expecting a visit from their daughter, Mrs. Alexander S. Persons of Worcester, Mass., at the end of this week. Mr. Persons is making a business trip to California, so he and his bride of last June are motoring west. They are spending Labor day with friends in Albany. Mrs. Persons will be in Chicago for about three weeks. Her sister, Miss Peggy Wiley, who is in the east, will return to Chicago this week-end.

Vassar Clubs Planning Freshman Luncheon.

Comfortable, Practical Apron

WOMAN'S AND MISS' APRON.

This apron that fits so well at the shoulders and covers the frock beneath it so completely is just the type all homemakers and hostesses will like. The neckline is round and is bound or trimmed with rickrack braid to match the armholes. A large bow ties in the back and straps cross to keep the garment secure on the body. A large pocket takes the form of a tulip and the pattern for this is included at no extra cost.

All inexpensive cottons make up beautifully in this simple pattern. Be certain to seek out the remnant counter in your favorite shop. There you will find bargains to make this lovely apron even more inexpensive. If there is a prospective bride in your circle, and if you are to attend a shower, remember that this apron will make a most acceptable gift. It also is suitable for party prizes.

Style No. 3487 is designed for sizes small, medium, and large. The medium size requires 2¼ yards of 35 inch material, with ⅛ yard of 35 inch dark and ¾ yard of 18 inch light contrasting fabric. You also will need 4½ yards of braid.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Cooked whole cereals—cornmeal, oatmeal, wheat, brown rice and rye, for example—are most economical and most nourishing breakfast foods. In families where there are children, a hot cereal should be part of every morning meal. Even in families where there aren't children, the cereal habit is worth acquiring.

These breakfast cereals are best when cooked in the top of a double boiler, for at least an hour. In the long cooking, flavor is developed and starchiness is lost. Even the quick-cooking rolled oats, which have been partly cooked in processing, are better if cooked longer than the short time actually needed to make them edible.

It's better not to stir cereals as they cook, except for the few minutes required at first. Drop the cereal into boiling salted water, cook and stir until a slight thickening takes place, then cover and cook over hot water, without stirring. Stirring seems to make the finished product rather sticky and gummy, in most instances.

A teaspoon or more of salt per quart of cooking water aids in bringing out flavor. Milk may be used as the cooking medium if there is a need for more milk in the diet. Cereals cooked in milk are delicious. Since milk contains more minerals than cream, the nutrition-conscious homemaker will serve milk as an accompaniment to cereals.

Dried fruits, such as apricots, raisins and prunes, may be cooked in the cereal, or served atop it. Sliced bananas, peaches, or other fresh or canned fruit help make a morning breakfast food more appealing, too.

Cornmeal mush was a mainstay in the diet of our pioneer fathers, who ate it at breakfast, dinner and supper, plain, with milk or maple sirup, or fried. It still is a valuable food, although it isn't seen frequently any more at any meal except breakfast.

Cornmeal Mush.

1 cup cornmeal
1 teaspoon salt
4 cups water

Bring water to boil in the top part of a double boiler, over direct heat. Add salt, and pour cornmeal into the boiling water slowly. Cook and stir until the mixture thickens. Cover, place over boiling water, and let the mush cook for at least half an hour longer. Serve with milk and sugar, or with sirup. Or turn the mush into a mold or an empty baking powder can to cool, remove, and cut into slices. Brown the slices in butter and serve them with sirup.

If there isn't time before breakfast to give cereals as much cooking as is good for them, they may be cooked the day before and reheated over hot water for breakfast.

A frozen salad makes any meal one of distinction. For recipes see Mary Meade's "Freeze the Salad." The booklet is on sale for 3 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, or will be mailed for 5 cents in stamps. Mail requests should be addressed to Mary Meade.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

This is an old story, but, to the best of my knowledge, never before has found its way into print. [Which is surprising, because it is a truly classic example of "brainstorm."]

Four of the best known experts sat down to a friendly [?] game of rubber bridge at fairly high stakes. After some preliminary skirmishing fate sent along this dainty dish:

South, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

	NORTH ♠ J 10 8 7 5 4 3 2 ♥ None ♦ K Q 6 2 ♣ A
WEST ♠ K ♥ A 7 6 ♦ 8 5 3 ♣ K 8 7 5 4 3		EAST ♠ None ♥ K Q 9 5 4 3 2 ♦ J 4 ♣ 10 9 6 2
	SOUTH ♠ A Q 9 6 ♥ J 10 8 ♦ A 10 9 7 ♣ Q J

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 diam.	2 hearts
Pass	3 hearts	4 hearts	Pass
5 diam.	Pass	7 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

Let us digress for a moment to comment on the bidding. It will be observed that the final contract was something of a hit-or-miss affair. North had deliberately selected a two diamond take-out in the hope of getting information about the diamond ace. This was logical enough, but even after South's belated diamond raise North could not be sure that South held the vital two aces, the spade and the diamond. It was by no means inconceivable that South's holding was something like:

♠ K Q x x ♥ x x x ♦ A J 10 x ♣ K Q

In this case, since the ace of trumps would be lacking, a grand slam would be slightly humiliating as well as frightfully expensive. However, no such tragedy developed and, of course, the contract was ice cold.

To prove that strange things happen at the bridge table, however, even when super-experts are involved, I hasten to add that the declarer found a very easy way to be defeated.

West opened the ace of hearts. This was ruffed in dummy and the spade jack was led. East, of course, showed out, and at this point, before declarer could play, West detached his lone spade king and, looking at it mournfully, said, "I thought I'd make this baby."

Declarer, obviously enraged by the "bad break" of East's failing to follow, slammed down his own six of spades and snarled, "O, go on and take it!" West gratefully obliged, and the grand slam contract had bitten the dust.

For a long second there was not a sound in the room, but then West could no longer contain his snickers. Of course, what had happened was obvious. Declarer had miscounted dummy's trumps—he had thought that there were only seven there instead of eight. But now a curious thing happened. Declarer stridently maintained that he had been led astray by West's remark! According to him, West had said: "I thought I'd make this baby" with the accent on the word thought, and in a tone that "reeked with complacency." This, declarer averred, had so convinced him that West's king was guarded that he had not troubled to count the combined spades more carefully.

I need hardly say that this remarkable alibi was received with great hilarity by the defenders and that even the declarer's partner, much as it hurt him, had to chuckle a bit.

Tomorrow's Hand

South, dealer.

	NORTH ♠ K Q 6 ♥ J 8 ♦ K J 6 ♣ A Q 6 5 2
WEST ♠ 8 5 ♥ Q 6 4 2 ♦ A Q 8 5 4 ♣ J 10		EAST ♠ 9 4 3 ♥ K 5 ♦ 10 9 7 3 2 ♣ K 9 8
	SOUTH ♠ A J 10 7 2 ♥ A 10 9 7 3 ♦ None ♣ 7 4 3

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

Beauty Alone Is No Measure of Good Model

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

The professional models appear to be running the movie stars a close race as women of importance in setting style paces. They are being publicized in a big way these days, as you notice. Generally, they are pushing right up into the front rank of girls who are studied for what they wear, how they look, walk, etc.

In this model department of beauty, as well as in the screen school, the girl with only the pretty face and the bathing beauty contest figure isn't what she once was in popular acclaim.

Andrew W. Hunter presides over a service and modeling school in New York, with six years of training and placing girls in modeling positions. He says that it is ridiculous and all nonsense about needing a perfect figure and a beautiful face to be a good model. He is not denying that the named virtues do help, but tney are not necessary any more. He says: "If we trained only beautiful girls we would soon go out of business. There just aren't enough beautiful girls to fill all of our positions."

Many girls who are plain looking, Hunter further discloses, and girls not particularly well built, have become highly paid models, making exceptional salaries in the wholesale world. These girls have learned that a prospective buyer is interested only in the garment they might be showing and not in themselves. If a young woman shows the costume to its very best advantage, then and only then is she a really good model.

To reach this peak, a really finished model must have the following qualifications:

She must be well groomed and smart looking.

She must have fairly good proportions.

She must have a pleasant attitude toward the customers.

BUT—above all, she must carry her head and shoulders with pride, poise, and assurance. AND she must know how to use her hands to advantage and how to walk and turn effectively, all traits that serve beautifully toward every woman's smarter appearance.

Parent Urged to Be Patient with Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

You aren't superhuman. You can't do everything. You have nature, heredity, and circumstances to cope with.

You can do your best. You can be an intelligent, thoughtful, loving mother. But you can't create quick magical changes in behavior in your children.

A child does this or that which troubles his mother. An older girl or boy does something else that worries both father and mother. Eagerly they try to bring about a change. Sometimes they can—but sometimes they can't. Nature is at work and she can't be rushed. Then we must be like the good physician who says, "I don't cure. Nature does. I just help her."

We must be like that: do our best and not expect instant results. A mother who has had experience and gained perspective knows that children work out of so many things. I feel as though, as a duty, I should repeat that for you again and again. It's such a comforting thought.

But it's one that isn't likely to occur to the young or inexperienced mother, to the one who is agonizing over her first baby, or enjoying with a sort of fearful delight her adorable small child, or watching with loving misgivings the development of her long legged, slim, vigorous son or daughter. It's only the experienced mother who can see or say to you that children outgrow or work through many worrying difficulties.

There are two sorts of behavior that worry parents. There is one kind for which we can find the remedy if we use a moderate amount of such ingredients as intelligence, understanding, and common sense. The behavior that yields to these measures might be, to give examples, such things as the child's desire to touch, the "no" habit, and disobedience.

But there is other behavior which we may handle with real skill and which still baffles us. Stubborness is sometimes one of these baffling manifestations; irresponsibility is another; heedlessness and dawdling are others; a dislike for chores is another; quick or violent temper is still another. Fears, such as fear of the dark, either indoors or out, is another trouble of childhood we cannot always dissipate. These we must work on, of course; but sometimes it takes years before a child's good sense and a certain maturity will bring him through them, or before some subtle change occurs in his relation to the world which clears up his behavior.

As our children develop we are likely to find behavior, or phases of personality, that resist our efforts to clear them up. At times like that have faith and realize that children work out of many, many things. Human nature is complex and we are not either omniscient nor omnipotent—we are not supermen or superwomen.

"Our Mothers' and Fathers' Litany" is a booklet sent on receipt of postage only, no envelope required. Address Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Hay fever victims really pay through the nose. All of them are not fortunate enough to be able to hie themselves off to the north woods or to the highest mountain top when an ill wind blows their way.

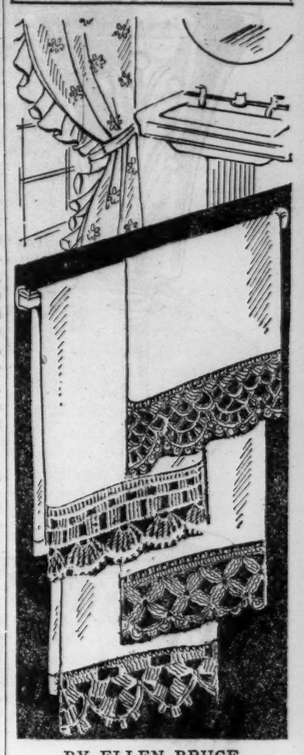
While knocking on wood with fingers crossed, we are not one of the unfortunate persons who spend their time from now until the first frost, sniffing and wheezing. So when a simple device was put on our desk, designed to alleviate the misery of the summer sneezing, we passed it on to one of our office mates just one desk away who is afflicted with this allergy. Her reports were extremely favorable. She found that the pine-scented warm vapor inhaled through the nose relieved the stuffy feeling in her head and gave her a great deal of relief. So we pass the good word on to other sufferers.

If you are some day attacked by an outburst of energy and a spic and span complex starts working on you, the result is apt to prove disastrous for your hands. The day you decide to launder the precious silks or to give the fragile crystal that going over generally turns out to be the very day that your hands are sure to be on exhibit at a later hour. They come out wrinkled and puffed, looking as if they had been left to soak.

If this happens to you here's a way to repair some of the damage. Take your richest night cream or hand cream and massage it into your hands generously and thoroughly. Put on a pair of gloves and make yourself settle down for a good hour.

You'll have to lie down to rest or read, for with hands creamed and gloved, you're out of circulation as far as doing anything else is concerned. FLORENCE MURDOCH.

Crochet Pattern Fashions Edgings on Dainty Towels



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Whether or not a person crochets for herself or her friends, there is nothing she can make which is more acceptable than snowy linen towels with dainty crocheted lace edgings. The four edgings illustrated today are simple and varied, each a masterpiece. Fine white mercerized crochet cotton creates dainty scalloped edgings in shell or love knot design. These same designs may be used with equal charm for tray cloths or luncheon sets.

For instructions for crocheting the lace edgings for towels, No. X-63, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

GALAN'S HOMER DECIDES GAME; ROOT IS VICTOR

Goodman Ties Score with No. 30.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 4. — Augie Galan knocked a home run with two out in the eleventh today and this, with a run which Augie had made after tripling in the fourth, enabled Charley Root and associate Cubs to win an interesting ball game from the Reds, 2 to 1.

Root was in such fine fettle it appeared until one was out in the ninth that one run, made on Galan's aforesaid triple and a single by Carl Reynolds, would be enough. This confident idea was shattered, however, when Ival Goodman stepped up and stroked his 30th homer of the season to tie the score.

Six Hits Apiece.

The Cubs did not make a hit after Root doubled with two out in the fifth until Galan whanged the big decider. Schott, winner of yesterday's second game, had replaced Whitey Moore at the start of the ninth, and was displaying his usual effectiveness against the Chicagoans, until up stepped Augie.

Each team made but six hits in the prolonged engagement. Besides Galan's triple and homer, there was a triple by Phil Cavarretta, doubles by Root and Bill Jurges, and a single by Reynolds. Reynolds consistently could have been awarded two more singles, but the official scorer was cross and charged Riggs with two errors.

The Reds' attack on Root consisted of a lead off triple by Lew Riggs, a fourth inning infield single by Frank McCormick, singles by Lonnie Frey and Riggs in the fifth and sixth innings and a single by Harry Craft after Goodman's homer.

Tie with Reds.

The outcome gave the Cubs a 10 to 10 tie with the Reds in the season series and lifted Manager Gabby Hartnett's régime to a 24 won, 22 lost status. The Cubs remained seven games back of the Pirates, whom they play tomorrow. They gained a game on the second place Reds, of course, and now trail Cincy by one game.

The game was interrupted after the first of the sixth for the introduction of Doug Corrigan. The wrong way flyer greeted the crowd over the public address system. He then hit one of Root's pitches and broke for third, which the crowd thought was a pretty cute, though obvious gag.

The first inning saw each side wasting a triple. In the Cub half, after Hack and Herman had supplied easy outs, Cavarretta lined one to right, but Galan popped to McCormick. Riggs opened the Red offensive with a triple to center. Then Ol' Charley did some fine bearing down. Berger popped to Herman, Goodman sent a short fly to Cavarretta and Hack tossed out McCormick.

Reynolds, first up in the second, was safe on Riggs' fumble, but was doubled when he tried to reach second on O'Dea's foul to Lombardi. There was more shunning of opportunity in the Cubs' third when Jurges opened with a double and reached third on a passed ball. Root fanned and Hack and Herman sent little flies to the outfield.

The Cubs got a run home in the

They Won't Be Strangers Long

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Four White Sox rookies, called in from the minors, bid for regular employment in Comiskey park. Left to right: Mike Tresh, catcher, and George Meyer, John Gerlach, and Mervin Conners, infielders.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

NATIONAL league players and fans who have seen him during his brief stay with the Giants say George Myatt, rookie infielder, is the fastest man in baseball. . . . Jim Braddock is filling refereeing engagements throughout New England and Canada. . . . Although the Yankees have collected 100 fewer hits than have the Senators, they have scored 200 more runs. . . . Hal Chase, who was barred from baseball for life, received a few votes in that cereal company's popularity poll. . . . Primo Carnera is determined to make a comeback in the ring. . . . George McQuinn of the Browns is hailed as the best defensive first baseman the club has had since George Sisler. . . . And the Yankees passed him up when he was in the minors. Ray Schalk, one of the quietest chaps in the game, has been banished by association umpires twice in the last week. . . . The Bears will wear blue helmets this year. . . . Ford Frick predicts that at least five National league clubs will top 600,000 in home attendance. . . . A tip-off on the skid of the Giants: Dick Coffman was called in for mound relief duty fifteen times during August.

Sugar Cain, the ex-White Sox pitcher now with St. Paul, says it is harder to win in the American Association than in the majors. Sugar contends too many fly balls go for home runs because of the small parks. . . . Note to the Cub front office: Pie Traynor, Pirate manager, declares Dolph Camilli is as great a first baseman as Stuffy McInnis was. . . . RIGNEY BAFFLES TIGERS; ROOKIES STAR IN DEBUT

Meyer Scores Both Runs for White Sox.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

John Dungan Rigney, No. 1 citizen of River Forest, took charge of the White Sox yesterday with results favorable to his fellow workers but not to Detroit's Tigers. Rigney had a fast ball, a curve, and a bat, and these, with a little outside assistance, proved sufficient for his eighth triumph—a duel in which he squelched the usually murderous Tigers on four hits in a ten inning battle. The score was 2 to 1.

Rigney, who was at least kind enough to allow his pitching opponent, Alton Benton, the privilege of delivering half the Tiger hits, might have garnished his second four hitter in four starts with a shutout if it hadn't been for a slip on the part of Hank Steinbacher in center field. Hank committed a two base blunder on a fly ball and from this the Tiger manufactured the run that forced the struggle into overtime. Rigney, however, didn't complain about that. He was satisfied with several brilliant defensive plays that assisted his triumph.

Two Rookies Perform.

The Sox introduced two of their freshmen in George Meyer at second, where Manager Jimmy Dykes had been struggling valiantly for several weeks, and Mike Tresh behind the bat.

The Meyer debut was a howling success both for himself and his new mates. It was his good fortune to score both the Sox runs, one in the third, when a pair of errors and Rigney's bat got him home and again in the tenth when a pass with none out developed into the winning run on Joe Kuhel's single over Pete Fox's head in right, after two were gone.

Chicago Gets One.

It took the Sox quite a while to get their first hit, but they made it worth a run. Meyer opened the third inning with a roller to Gehringer, who failed to come up with it. Benton missed the return throw, Meyer taking second on this error. Tresh went out on strikes, but Rigney took care of the situation by singling to right, Meyer scoring. Rigney continued to second, while Fox's throw in was on its way to the plate, but received no assistance from either Kuhel or Owen.

The Sox came close to nicking Benton again in the fourth. All they lacked was a little luck. Radcliff singled to right with one out and

Juveniles Run in Hawthorne $3,500 Race

BY FRENCH LANE.

A holiday throng of 35,000 will see another chapter written into the western 2 year old championship race at the Hawthorne track this afternoon where a thirty day autumn turf season opens.

The 2 year olds—14 of them—step onto the battlefield in the $3,500 added Labor day handicap. They represent the best juveniles in this section. The presence of numerous Chicago owned colts has added much interest to the six furlong test.

Chicagoans are ready to back these home town colorbearers. On the eve of the race Smart Trick owned by Morris Vehon shaped up as the favorite at odds of 2 to 1 with Lightspur, the property of Mrs. John Marsch, the second choice at 3 to 1. Kentuckians will string with the Lemar Stock farm's Matchup and the Louisville owned stretch runner, American Byrd. Texans believe they have a pair of dangerous colorbearers in the Valdina farm stable's Viscounty and Range Dust.

Chicagoans Like Veyo.

Chicago's rialto buzzed with excitement over the presence in the race of Veyo, owned by Veloz and Yolando. Reports circulated that this expensive chestnut son of Gino-Dark Roma at last was ready to run his race. Dancers Veloz and Yolando did not appear excited about it after watching the colt finish out of the money in his three previous starts. He has shown steady improvement, however, and keen observers noticed that he wore four heavy bandages in his last race which brought his best performance to date.

The inaugural handicap at a mile will be the companion feature. Visigoth from Shady Brook farm in Kentucky is expected to rule as the choice with Mrs. Bennett Creech's Grey Streak and Mrs. Jacob Lowenstein's Novelette. Sumatra III., a South American horse owned by Lawrence Barker of Los Angeles, also will attract attention. This 4 year old, foreign bred, may be getting her final tune-up for the Hawthorne Gold Cup in today's inaugural.

Hawthorne Gets Totalizator.

For the first time betting at Hawthorne will be through the American totalizator. The machine was installed during the summer and the odds board in the infield on which the amount of money bet on each horse also is recorded is the largest in the world. The 198 betting windows have been connected with the machine. Hawthorne always has been

SANAGHANS WIN $5,000 POOL; NOW FOR HONEYMOON

Mrs. Leonore Sanaghan and her husband, John, 8738 Houston avenue, this week will start on a honeymoon that has been delayed for three years. Mrs. Sanaghan picked six of the first seven winners in the patrons' handicapping contest at Washington Park on Saturday and then named the winner of the eighth to break a tie and win the $5,000 pool.

John was a prosperous jewelry salesman when he married Leonore three years ago. Business declined and he lost his job, so their honeymoon was postponed. John has been able to pick up a few odd jobs now and then but not many.

They'll drop in at the Washington Park offices, 120 South La Salle street, tomorrow morning, collect their money, and then the delayed honeymoon will be under way.

Ski jumping and slalom, it was decided, would be confined to exhibitions.

U. S. Women Lose Match to Australians

East Hampton, N. Y., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Australia's women tennis players defeated an American team today, 15 sets to 14, after the United States players had rallied to tie the match at six all.

Australia was leading, 4 to 2, in matches at the close of yesterday's play at Southampton, but, led by Helen Jacobs, the Americans won four of today's six matches. Officials then called for a decision on a total set basis.

Miss Jacobs whipped Nancy Wynne, Australia's No. 1 woman player, 5-7, 6-2, 6-0, in her last match before the start of the national singles. Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Brookline, Mass., soundly trounced Thelma Coyne, second ranking Australian player, 7-5, 7-5.

Dorothy Workman scored the third American victory by beating Dorothy Stevenson, fourth ranking Australian player, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2. Mrs. Harry C. Hopman, wife of the Australian Davis cup team captain, scored the lone singles triumph for the invaders when she defeated Dorothy May Bundy, 8-6, 6-4.

Miss Jacobs and Mrs. Fabyan then teamed to beat Mrs. Hopman and Miss Stevenson, 6-2, 8-6, in the first doubles match and put the United States ahead, 6 to 5, in matches. The visitors tied the score at six all when Miss Coyne and Miss Wynne defeated Miss Bundy and Miss Workman, 9-7, 3-6, 6-3.

BROMWICH AND QUIST RALLY TO WIN IN 4 SETS

Americans Need One Victory Today.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 4.—(AP)—The Australians, Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich, defeated Donald Budge and Gene Mako of America, 0-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2, today to keep the Davis cup challenge round alive and make it necessary for America to win one of tomorrow's two concluding singles matches to retain the international team tennis trophy.

Bromwich, the left hander who swings with both arms on his right side, was the individual hero of the victory that saw the Australians reverse the beating they took from Mako and Budge last week in the final of the national doubles in Brookline, Mass. He was superb in every department of the game and received most of the applause from 9,000 spectators.

Australians Have Stage Fright.

The Americans were a ball of fire in the first set, when the Australians seemed to be suffering from stage fright, but once the invaders got under way in the second set there wasn't much doubt of the eventual outcome. Budge and Mako were about equally responsible for the defeat, neither matching the Australians in steadiness in the crucial games. Budge lost his service three times, twice in the final set.

Budge will have an opportunity to make amends when he faces Quist tomorrow in the first singles match. A victory either in that match or in the one following, between Bromwich and Bobby Riggs, will suffice to keep the cup in America.

At the outset, Quist and Bromwich looked as apathetic and easy as they were last week at Brookline, when they won only six games in the national doubles final from Budge and Mako. Quist lost his first service because of two successive double faults and the Americans swept through to win the set at love. The spectators groaned. They wondered if they were to see the end of the matches in three straight sets and a repetition of yesterday's singles, in which Riggs beat Quist, 4-6, 6-0, 8-6, 6-1, and Budge defeated Bromwich, 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 7-5.

Break Mako's Service to Lead.

The second set was even until Australia broke Mako's service at love in the sixth game to go ahead, 4-2. Bromwich earned seven points himself and set Quist up for most of his nine earned points. Time and again he passed Budge and Mako at the net.

Bromwich inspired Quist in the third set with his superb play, doing much of the damage as Budge's service was broken at 4-1. He lost his own service on the next game and the games were tied up again. He lost a great fight for the deciding point in the fifth game to Mako's service—a game that went to deuce seven times before Mako won it with two beautiful shots. But from then on the set was all Australia's.

Tied at 4-all, they broke Mako's service in the ninth game and won the set on Quist's service at love to go ahead.

Quist Improves Rapidly.

As Quist improved rapidly, the Australians won all the way in the fourth and final set. Again they broke Budge's service after a hard struggle, deuced four times. Budge, troubled with his first serves, lost the first two points and though he and Mako forced it repeatedly to deuce they never were ahead. Quist and Bromwich won another hard game in the fourth to lead, 3-1, broke Budge's service again in the fifth game, and it was all over. After Mako barely won his service in the seventh, Quist won his at love to take the match.

The Australians were overjoyed. Said Harry Hopman, nonplaying captain:

"This leaves the matches open. With Bromwich in such fine form and Budge not the super Budge, there's just a chance we might pull it out. I can never forget that Australia led the United States 2-love in the interzone final at Wimbledon in 1934, and the Americans won the matches, 3-2. The game today showed Bromwich in something like his Australian form."

one of the biggest betting tracks of the country and Labor day has usually been one of the best racing days of the year on Chicago tracks. Thus the new machine will have to go at its fastest clip on opening day.

Numerous other improvements have been made at the course, the oldest in the Chicago circuit. Visitors yesterday discovered that the new landscape effect compares in beauty with that of any other track in the district.

Stables Are Filled.

The stables at Hawthorne and at nearby Sportsman's Park were filled to the overflow point yesterday. Some 1,200 moved to the west side from Washington Park and Lincoln Fields over the week-end. Other pretentious stables came from the east, far west, and from Dade Park in Kentucky where summer racing ends today.

Post time for the first race each afternoon will be at 2:15 o'clock. Ten stake races are on the thirty day program, topped by the renewal of the Hawthorne Gold Cup to be run on Sept. 17. This mile and a quarter fixture is one of America's most important autumn races.

KERWIN WINS SINGLES SCULLS IN LINCOLN PARK

Lawrence Kerwin of the Lincoln Park Boat club won the single sculled race in the twenty-eighth annual invitational regatta held in Lincoln park yesterday.

He crossed the finish line a length ahead of Nick Kausch of the Central Rowing club of St. Louis, Mo. Hans Grueder, also of the Lincoln Park club, was third.

Lincoln Park beat the Minneapolis Boat club in the junior eight oared shell race by three-fourths of a length over a one-half mile course. In the finals of the junior four oared event the Central R. C. of St. Louis defeated the Minneapolis team.

Time Needed in Preparing a Dog for Field Duty

BY BOB BECKER.

Wuakon, Ia.

I am getting a Chesapeake Bay retriever for fall hunting. What publications do you have on the training of such a dog, as well as its care? Will you please mail collect any publications that you have or can recommend?

H. Haehlen.

As far as we know, there is no full sized book available on training a Chesapeake. But there are two or three books on training various kinds of sporting breeds which may be of some help to you. We will mail you the titles of these books, which may be purchased in a book store. However, we're afraid you're starting too late to get a retriever ready for fall hunting. It's impossible to train a hunting dog in a few weeks.

Chicago, Ill.

I would like to know what becomes of the money paid in for fishing licenses. I never heard of the Illinois lakes being stocked. Also what legal right has the state to post a pier that is not connected with the shore. The notice says that an Illinois license must be obtained. Does Illinois stock Lake Michigan?

Walter S. O.

If you'll write Thomas Lynch, head of the conservation department at Springfield, I'm sure he'll be glad to send you an annual report of the department showing how license money is expended. The state does some work in fish planting. Mr Lynch also will explain the ruling whereby a license is required to fish in the waters of Lake Michigan. Yes, Illinois does put some fish in the lake. They plant a few lake trout every year.

Lake Tomahawk, Wis.

Will you please advise me if you are still able to supply a copy of "The Fisherman's Guide?"

Sigmund A. Rulland.

Yes, you may get a copy of the Fisherman's Guide by sending 30 cents to the public service office of THE TRIBUNE, 1 S. Dearborn street, Chicago. This public service office also has on sale the newest outdoor book published by THE TRIBUNE, "Which Lures and Where," an illustrated handbook on fishing which discusses both fly and bait casting lures. The price of this book also is 30 cents by mail, or 25 cents if purchased over the counter at the public service office.

OLD, OLD STORY! YANKEES HIT FOUR HOMERS; WIN, 7-4

Senators Succumb to New York Power.

New York, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The Yankees beat the Washington Senators, 7 to 4, today and they set an American league record doing it.

Joe Gordon connected for homers No. 20 and 21. Joe DiMaggio hit his 28th and Tommy Henrich his 21st. Since Lou Gehrig, with 26, and Bill Dickey, with 25, already have passed the twenty homer mark, this gave the Yanks a league record of five players with twenty or more in one season.

The body will lie in state in the cathedral until Friday morning, when a solemn pontifical requiem mass will be celebrated. Then the body will be placed in a crypt under the cathedral altar, where four other former diocesan heads are buried.

Announced in Cathedral.

Announcement of the cardinal's death was first made in St. Patrick's cathedral at the 11 o'clock solemn high mass. There were more than 3,500 worshipers in the cathedral as the Rev. Henry F. Hammer, assistant rector of the cathedral and celebrant of the mass said simply:

"I am about to make the most difficult announcement that I have ever been called upon to make from the pulpit of the cathedral. I shall make the announcement in very few words, because my heart is so filled with grief that I could not speak longer.

"Your archbishop, Cardinal Hayes, passed away in his sleep last night. Will you please pray for the repose of his soul."

An audible gasp ran through the huge edifice. It was followed by a hush which Father Hammer later described as being "the most profound silence I have ever heard."

Women brushed tears from their eyes. Men bowed their heads lower. Priests moved about the altar as if in a daze.

PLANS TO CROSS LAKE TODAY IN SARDINE CAN SUB

In a home made submarine which resembles an overgrown lake trout, Barney Connett, a mechanic, will attempt today to cross Lake Michigan from Michigan City to Navy pier.

The craft was recently completed by Connett after five years' work. It is 10½ feet long, weighs 1,050 pounds, is 37 inches high, and 23 inches wide. Its body is of metal and it can reach a maximum depth of thirty-one feet. Its power is supplied by regular automobile batteries. Top speed is nine miles an hour and cruising speed is four miles an hour.

Connett, who is 32 years old and lives at 6818 Stony Island avenue, built the craft from odds and ends, he said. He painted it to resemble a giant trout, complete with eyes, gills, and a mouth. He will leave Michigan City at about 1 p. m. and hopes to reach Chicago by early evening.

EL PASO TWINS, 88, CLAIM TO BE STATE'S OLDEST

El Paso, Ill., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—John and Jerimiah Kelts, 88 years old, of this village, twelve miles northwest of Bloomington, claim to be the oldest twins in Illinois.

A week ago Saybrook claimed the oldest twins in the state when Mrs. C. R. Martin and Mrs. Ambrose Tipsord reached their 84th anniversary. The Saybrook sisters now have shifted their claim to "the oldest twin sisters in Illinois."

It is believed that Mrs. Nancy Taylor and Mrs. Mary Rector of Pittsburg, Kas., 95 years old, have undisputed claim to the title of the nation's oldest twins.

Jack and Judd, as the El Paso twins are known, were born in Chicago and came to El Paso two years after the town was laid out.

PICNICKER UNDER WATER FIFTEEN MINUTES; REVIVED

A physician and the fire departments of Wauconda and Lake Zurich yesterday revived a picnicker who had been under water for nearly fifteen minutes and apparently had drowned.

The man saved is William Hrubec, 29 years old, 1037 Cullerton street. Swimming at Breezy point in Lake Zurich after a heavy lunch, he was seized by cramps and sank in ten feet of water. Others of his picnic party found him and dragged him out.

A few minutes later the fire department arrived. So did Dr. J. A. Ross of Lake Zurich. The physician injected a stimulant. The firemen used their inhalators. After an hour's work Hrubec was breathing easily.

GREEN ASSAILS THOSE WHO URGE CLASS HATREDS

Providence, R. I., Sept. 4.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a pulpit address in Calvary Baptist church here today attacked those who preach class hatred in labor-capital relations.

"If capital and labor are to carry on a relentless industrial class warfare," he said, "then religion and ethics have failed. The American Federation of Labor steadfastly refuses to embrace such a philosophy or to accept such a pessimistic theory.

"Justice requires that there be an equitable and fair distribution of the earnings of industry."

FATHER FINDS NEW HOMES FOR 2 LITTLE GIRLS

Joan Calmus, 6 years old, and her sister, Diana, 2½, each got a new home yesterday and it wasn't a police station. That's where their father, Daniel, 30, who is unemployed, took them on Saturday night. He told police at the North Damen avenue station to take care of them because he was broke and was going away.

It didn't turn out that way, however. The police learned that Calmus' wife, Sarah, had run away six months ago, not long after he had lost his job. Now, it seemed, he and the children could no longer stay with his sister, Mrs. Jack Bleffer, 2555 Argyle street. The police sent Joan to the juvenile detention home and Diana to St. Vincent's orphanage.

Yesterday Calmus went and got them and placed them with friends, each in a different home. His destination authorities did not know.

Gilbert Erickson, 36 years old, of 6522 Hoyne avenue, was drowned in Twin Lakes, near Paris, in Edgar county. He was fishing with Edward Kramer, his brother-in-law.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

PRICE OF WHEAT CUT BY EXPORT SUBSIDY PLANS

World Level Lowest in Five Years.

Wheat export subsidy plans announced by leading producing countries have had a depressing effect on wheat prices in the world market. The Liverpool, Winnipeg, and Rotterdam markets have fallen to the lowest level in more than five years.

In addition to its plan to subsidize exports of 100,000,000 bushels of wheat, the United States has offered loans of 59 to 60 cents a bushel to farmers on the 1938 crop. Other attempts to help the wheat farmer include the government's crop insurance program and the promised benefit payments for acreage reductions in 1939.

Price Differences Widen.

The effect of these plans on wheat prices is already reflected in a widening in the price differences between Chicago, Winnipeg, and other leading world markets. Winnipeg wheat prices have declined about 5 cents a bushel in relation to the Chicago market since the domestic export program was announced.

Latest official estimates on the 1938-'39 production of wheat, exclusive of Russia and China, indicate a world crop of 4,257,000,000 bushels. This would be the largest on record.

World consumption of wheat in the last 10 years has averaged about 3,775,000,000 bushels. The world supply and demand prospects suggest that there will be a big increase in the amount of wheat carried over into the 1939-'40 season. The carryover on July, 1938, was 620,000,000 bushels.

Steel Makers Optimistic as Output Rises

A definitly improved sentiment is found among steel makers, the magazine Steel said yesterday in its weekly review of conditions in the industry. Last week's ingot production rose another point to 44.5 per cent of capacity, the trade journal estimated.

"Steady increase in production, which started early in July, is continued," Steel said, "and indications are that the rise is likely to reach well into the fall. Practically all producers found August well above July in tonnage booked, and much of the increase was in the last two weeks.

"A decided upward movement in structural steel projects is providing considerable tonnage. Pending projects are numerous, assuring continuance of present activity."

Principal Structural Awards.

Recent structural awards include 6,275 tons for a subway in Brooklyn, N. Y.; 1,525 tons for a building at Sheffield Farms, New York; 1,500 tons for a hangar at Scott field, Belleville, Ill.; 1,400 tons of sheet piling for a shore improvement at Long Branch, N. J., and 1,166 tons for a bridge for the Big Four railroad at Bloomfield, Ill.

Additional steel business is being received from oil and shipbuilding companies, the magazine said. Agricultural implement and machine tool makers have begun seasonal increases in production schedules, requiring more tonnages of steel.

Pittsburgh was the only district last week in which ingot production declined. The drop there was 1 point to 32 per cent of capacity.

Chicago Area Output Gains.

The Chicago district gained 2½ points to 40 per cent; eastern Pennsylvania, 3 points to 33; Buffalo, 2.5 points to 49; Birmingham, 3 points to 56; St. Louis, 12 points to 45; Detroit, 7 points to 67, and Youngstown, 2 points to 45 per cent. There were no changes at Cleveland at 41, Cincinnati at 65, New England at 50, and Wheeling at 54 per cent.

No announcement has yet been made on steel prices for fourth quarter delivery. Indications lead to the belief that present prices are likely to continue to the end of the year for most products, Steel said.

SCHOOL BUYING GIVES BOOST TO CHICAGO TRADE

Retail business in Chicago last week received some impetus from purchases of school needs and fall clothing, trade observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. Sales continued to lag behind those of a year ago, however. Wholesale houses reported satisfactory business.

Factory conditions in Chicago were little changed. Railroads profited some from the Labor Day week-end travel, but not as much as a year ago.

MEXICO REJECTS PLAN TO PAY U.S. FOR SEIZED LAND

Assails Devaluation as Confiscation.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—(AP)—The Mexican government, unmoved by Secretary Hull's strong note of Aug. 22, refused today to set up a sinking fund to pay for American owned land seized under its agrarian laws. It likewise declined to promise that it would cease seizures of such lands pending arrangements for prompt payment.

In a note to Mr. Hull Mexico stated that, although it did not repudiate eventual compensation in theory, there was precedent internationally for doing so. In this connection the note referred pointedly to abandonment of the gold standard and devaluation of currency in some countries. Without mentioning that the United States was among the nations which had taken such steps, it said these measures had been described as "confiscation pure and simple."

Believe Relations Chaotic.

Marked impatience characterized the reaction of high officials here. It was understood they believed the note left the whole trade, financial and business relations between the two countries in a chaotic condition.

Total American claims at question under the agrarian laws are slightly more than 10 million dollars, but any agreement reached in the current discussions may set a precedent affecting much larger claims for seized oil properties.

Official reaction was not forthcoming here, but it was believed widely that Mexico's stand practically eliminated any possibility that the United States would resume purchasing a fixed amount of Mexican silver each month, a practice stopped soon after the oil seizures last February.

One point of Mr. Hull's recent proposal, that a joint commission be established to arbitrate differences of opinion on values of seized American land, was accepted by Mexico.

Hull Demands Payment.

In his note of Aug. 22 Secretary Hull took the position that under all recognized international law and practices Mexico had no right to seize American owned lands without arrangement for compensation. He asked Mexico to agree "that no further taking of properties of American nationals should take place unless accompanied by arrangements for adequate, prompt, and effective payment."

Foreign Minister Eduardo Hay replied:

"Confronted with the inescapable obligation of carrying out the agrarian reform—undoubtedly the most important point of the revolutionary program—my government must expropriate all the lands that may be necessary until their complete redistribution as ordered by the constitution and agrarian code of Mexico which establish the duty in indemnifying the owner of lands taken, although the indemnification may have to be postponed.

"Numerous nations, in reorganizing their economy, have been under the necessity of modifying their legislation in such manner that the expropriation of individual interests nevertheless does not call for immediate compensation and, in many cases, not even subsequent compensation."

Doctrin of Confiscation.

It was this declaration, with others, that reportedly gave officials here their greatest shock. It was said to have been accepted by them as evidence that the Mexican government was standing for the abolition of just compensation, or its practical emasculation, and the substitution of the doctrin of confiscation.

"There are numerous examples of nations," Hay continued, "whose cultural progress is beyond discussion, which have seen themselves obliged, without repudiating the right of property in the abstract, to issue laws which have signified expropriation without immediate payment and sometimes without later compensation.

"Countries might be mentioned which, under pressure of reasons considered to be of public necessity, have forced private individuals to exchange their gold and gold certificates for money which already had been depreciated, or which was depreciated immediately afterward.

Pay in Depreciated Money.

"Those countries have also been under necessity to require private persons, without distinguishing between nationals and foreigners, to receive in payment of obligations, which had been contracted in gold, the already depreciated currency of the country. Because appropriation was indirect it was none the less effective. . . . The courts of the various countries justified them, in view precisely of a superior order and of the public interest which inspired the said measures and the necessity of maintaining the equilibrium of the national economy.

"It is true that when these emergency measures were adopted by countries which were economically weak, which desired to pay off their obligations, contracted in gold, with depreciated currency, the creditor nations . . . denounced the debtor countries before the permanent court of international justice, accusing them of being transgressors against right. But later the same powerful countries which did so could not avoid having recourse to the measures which they had criticized so severely, for the purpose of solving their own problems."

GRAIN AND COAL SHIPMENTS RISE ON GREAT LAKES

More Ships Are Kept in Commission.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Large orders for vessel space to move grain and bituminous coal have forced vessel operators to revise plans to send boats to the docks at the end of this month, it was reported here today.

Shippers have lined up tonnage to transport 8,000,000 tons of coal in the next two months, and additional orders are expected. Grain brokers are in the market for boats to load at the head of the lakes as late as the middle of November. The demand for vessels to load grain to hold for spring delivery also is brisk.

Optimism in the grain trade is based largely on the big purchases, which are expected to increase before the fall movement from the head of the lakes gets under way.

Grain Shipments Increase.

Grain shipments from Duluth and Superior totaled approximately 7,500,000 bushels last month, against 3,200,000 bushels in the same period last year. The unusually early movement of grain from the interior has boosted stocks in elevators to 18,000,000 bushels and grain is still flowing into the twin ports.

With tonnage in demand, it was natural that rates for carrying grain were advanced. Brokers are offering 2 cents a bushel for movement from Duluth to Buffalo and other lower lake ports. The best previous figure had been 1¾ cents.

Rates on storage grain space also are being increased. Although the season's initial cargo was booked at 3½ cents for November loading at Duluth to hold at Buffalo, a vessel of medium size was chartered to load storage grain at 3¾ cents and a smaller carrier was lined up at 4 cents.

Canadian Boats Scarce.

As expected, the shortage of Canadian vessels to move grain because of increasing shipments of other commodities to dominion ports also has resulted in higher grain rates being offered both American and Canadian vessel operators.

The flow of grain into Fort William and Port Arthur more than doubled last week. Railroads dumped 4,833,352 bushels of wheat into the elevators, boosting stocks at the ports to 8,373,534 bushels.

Everyday Economics

Copies of the booklet, "Everyday Economics," may be purchased at the Chicago Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, Chicago. The price is 25 cents per copy—30 cents if sent by mail. This eighty-four page booklet contains simple explanations of financial and business terms and is a convenient guide to a fuller understanding of current economic and business news.

"Proven Reserves."

"Proven reserves," with reference to petroleum, mean the known amount of oil underground at any time that may be economically brought to the surface and made available for use.

The United States, which produces about 60 per cent of the annual world output of petroleum, leads all other nations in the amount of proven reserves. Reserves of leading petroleum countries on Jan. 1, 1936, were estimated as follows: United States, 10,575 million 42-gallon barrels; Russia, 2,830 million barrels; Iraq [Arabia], 2,475 millions; Iran, Persia, 2,150 millions, and Venezuela, 1,350 millions [American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers].

World production in 1935 was 1,642 million barrels, and world proven reserves at the end of the year were estimated at 21,965 million barrels.

From an economic standpoint the possibility of complete exhaustion of petroleum reserves is less significant than the changes that may be caused by a scarcity of petroleum. Possible changes resulting from depletion of supplies are higher prices for gasoline, shifts in sources of petroleum supplies, and shifts from oil to other fuels.

GROUP INSURANCE TOTAL RISES TO NEW HIGH RECORD

New York, Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Labor day this year marks a new high point in employé security as the result of a widespread movement by employers in the United States to provide more comprehensive protection for their employés through group life insurance. Thomas I. Parkinson, president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, disclosed this fact today.

In the first eight months of this year Equitable registered its best group insurance production—measured by the number of applications received from employers throughout the country—for any similar period in its history, Parkinson reported. More than 800 applications were received during the period, exceeding the number entered in the period of 1937, the best previous year, by 70.

Markets and Banks Will Close Today

The principal commodity and security markets in the United States and Canada will be closed today, Labor day. Banks will also be closed. Business will be resumed tomorrow morning at the regular hours.

STOCK MARKET SHOWS LITTLE CHANGE IN WEEK

Rail Group Weakest; Trade Is Small.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 4.—The stock market moved unevenly last week but closed not far from where it started on Monday. Some industrials, due to rallies Saturday and Friday, managed to finish a little higher than a week ago. Utilities were a shade lower.

The rails made the poorest showing. A drop of almost a point was recorded in the Dow-Jones rail average. This was attributed largely to failure of wage negotiations in Chicago, but the Nickel Plate's deferment of interest also was an influence.

The major market influence, particularly on industrials, appeared to be the Czech-German situation. When the situation seemed particularly menacing Monday the market took one of its sharpest dives in months.

Losses Are Recovered.

Most of the loss was recovered in the next two days, when the European situation appeared to have improved. New fears Thursday brought renewed selling, but losses were recouped the next two days as news became more encouraging.

To many observers the market seemed to be almost entirely a professional affair. They pointed to the quick turnabouts and moderate volume to support this view. The public sat by to watch developments.

One of the curious sidelights of the European situation, marketwise, was the behavior of Czech bonds. They rose more than 3 points on Monday when stocks took such a tumble. In all they advanced 17 points during the week to recover 35 of the 54 points lost since last spring.

Some of Larger Losses.

Declines of 1 to 4 points were registered by Coca-Cola, American Car and Foundry, Lima Locomotive, Pullman, Boeing, Allied Chemical, Dome Mines, Consolidated Edison, and Lone Star Cement.

Among the few shares to gain as much as 2 points were Sears, International Harvester, Loew's, and Texas corporation.

Most business indices—retail sales were one of the exceptions—continued their upward trend. Comparisons with year ago figures remained unfavorable, however, with the exception of aircraft production which was almost one and one-half times as large as a year ago.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Fattening Steers

September 4, 1938.

PREPARATIONS are being made for the feeding of the forty-two white faced Texas steers at the Du Page county farm. The steers have been running in the deep woods at the east end of the farm along Maramy road since shortly after they were brought to the farm Aug. 17.

They are becoming accustomed to their new home among the oaks, elms, basswoods, and hickories. On the range they were compelled to rustle for their feed, covering many miles a day to get their fill of grass and often traveling long distances to a water hole. At the farm they are becoming lazy. They wade in bluegrass up to their dewlaps; salt is kept in bunks near by, and at the windmill in the pasture a fresh tank of cool water is always waiting for them. The zoom zoom of motors passing day and night on Roosevelt road [U. S. 330] no longer disturbs them.

All That Will End.

So far as these Herefords know they will spend the rest of their lives in the deep woods at the farm. They seem contented where they can fill their hides daily with tender grass and have the flies and mosquitoes swept off their backs with low hanging branches of trees and underbrush.

But the farm manager has other plans. Last week the farm carpenters finished four feed bunks which are to be used in dealing out the daily rations. The bunks are all the same size and each is big enough to furnish plenty of standing room for ten or twelve steers.

The bunks are ten feet long, thirty inches wide inside, and six inches deep. They rest on six cross pieces, fastened to three and one-half inch posts that come up inside the outer rim of the bunk. The top of the bunk is thirty inches above the surface of the ground. Experienced feeders have found this to be about the right height for steers that are at least a year old. The floor and sides of the bunks are made of one and three-quarter inch lumber.

More than a hundred tons of straw was saved from the oats and rye fields at the farm this summer. The straw has been baled and stored. All of it will be fed or used as bedding for the horses, sheep, beef cattle, and dairy cows this winter. Approximately eighty-three tons of oat straw and twenty-nine tons of rye straw have been baled, according to the farm manager's estimates.

Keep Weeds Mowed.

Weeds will be kept mowed down at the farm until after killing frosts. The workers' weed campaign this summer has been effective in preventing the formation of pollen and seeds of undesirable weeds—and that includes practically every weed on the place. Men at the farm feel that their work has been worthwhile as a means of increasing income and protecting hay fever victims against pollen from ragweeds.

Practically every acre of land on the farm, excepting the heavily wooded pastures, has been mowed or cut with scythes and sickles. In many cases the weeds have been mowed two or three times to keep down rank growth stimulated by the abundance of rain this summer. Along with the mowing, the men had an opportunity to study the weeds and locate poisonous plants which they did not know grew on the farm.
